Greathouse announced this week that he feels a rate hike for those using the Lansdowne Treatment Plant, including Madison and Venice residents, will be needed by the first of next year.

Collection of city sales tax to begin here Nov. 1

Local collection of Granite City's one percent supplemental sales tax, which was approved during the city council's last meeting, is expected to commence around Nov. 1 and collection of the tax by the state for the city is possible early next year, city officials indicated today.

When the tax is put into effect, purchases of non-food items will carry a tax of 6 1/4 percent and for food items, the tax will be 4 1/4 percent. A city Department of Revenue will attempt to collect the extra one percent from the city's merchants, it was indicated.

Meanwhile, State Representative Sam Wolf has agreed to introduce an emergency measure in the House today to authorize the state Department of Revenue to collect the tax for the city and then reimburse the city.

Since the House session which opened today was a veto session, legislation would have to be declared emergency legislation by the Rules Committee in order for members to consider it at this session.

"We are going to try to have it declared an emergency measure, which would give it top priority status," Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler explained.

"However," he added, "the problem with state collection of the tax is that it is usually about three months late before the cities get their money and we need money now to support our budget."

He predicted that local collection of the one percent by city personnel will begin about Nov. 1. If Rep. Wolf is successful in authorizing the state Department of Revenue to collect the tax for the city, the question would be brought before the city council whether they would prefer to continue local collection of the tax or to let the state do the work and keep two percent of the funds raised as a collection fee.

"Collection by the state would be an ideal situation, both economically and practically," Schuler said, except for the delay in the receipt of the funds.

"We will very likely start our own collection, if we have no other alternative," Schuler explained.

One possible roadblock to collection of the tax is a threat by auto dealers that they may challenge the tax in court. A one percent tax on a $15,000 new automobile would add $150 to the price of the car, which may force

Madison, Venice treatment rate hike of 42% recommended

By GARY SCHNEIDER

"There will be a sewer treatment rate hike by the first of the year for those using the Lansdowne Treatment Plant, period," said Walter "Shang" Greathouse, as he juggled piles of overdue sewer bills and a consultant's report which strongly recommends an immediate rate hike of 42 percent for residents of Madison, Venice, Brooklyn, National City, Caseyville, Washington Park, Fairmount City and parts of East St. Louis.

"You have got to be absolutely crazy to handle this kind of job," Greathouse, president of the Metro-East Sanitary District, commented as he discussed efforts to attempt to collect overdue sewage treatment bills from property owners in hopes of staving off a recommended 42 percent rate increase for the remainder of this year.

Armed with an opinion from Horner

& Shiffrin, Inc., consulting engineers, which recommends a rate hike for customers whose sewage is treated at the Lansdowne facility, Greathouse said efforts are being made to state overdue accounts before any rate hike is considered. "You can't raise the rates of people unless you can show that you are making a first-class effort to collect the overdue bills," he commented.

The report also notes that if the district's average collection of treatment bills slips to 80 percent of the amount billed, the rate increase required to balance the treatment account for Lansdowne would be 51 percent.

Lansdowne customers currently pay $5.85 a quarter (each three months) for sewer treatment. "That's the cheapest rate in the state of Illinois and Illinois has the cheapest rate in the United States," Greathouse contended.

An increase to $8 per quarter per household is proposed by the consultant. "That's still cheaper than the $13 Granite City residents pay and compare it with what they are paying in Nameoki Township ($15.80 per month) and it is very cheap," Greathouse said.

Greathouse said the sanitary district has begun cutting off the water to 15 users a week who have overdue bills. "I hope this will convince the rest of them that we are serious and they are going to have to pay their bills or be shut off," he stated. The cutoffs are proceeding in Centerville and Alton, which is served by the Cahokia Treatment Plant, not Lansdowne.

Since the homes serviced by the Illinois-American Water Co. do not have valves which can be turned off as easily, the sanitary district is relying on property liens, garnishments of paychecks and other legal actions to force people to pay their bills. However, he pledged, water shutoffs of homes in Madison and Venice will occur, if necessary, even if it means cutting and capping the water lines into each home. He said he hopes he will have the support of communities in the sanitary district, since the cutting of the selected water lines is a "last-ditch effort" to collect thousands of dollars of overdue bills from users of the Lansdowne Treatment Plant to try and reduce the amount the treatment fees must be raised.

In his rate study, George M. Sallwasser of Horner & Shiffrin said that some of his recommendations have been adopted by the sanitary district. "We have seen some changes made in the handling of the billing and collection, but there are still many important items that we do not believe are adequately under control and that

Some property taxes to be adjusted

Property taxpayers who applied for a Senate Bill 1790 (anti-inflation) or homestead (senior citizen) exemption but did not receive it will receive a tax adjustment, Madison County officials have decided.

Next year, reductions in assessed valuation under Bill 1790 may be made automatically for owner-occupied residences. Homestead exemptions for those 65 years of age and older cannot be made automatically and will still require applications from the affected individuals.

To help achieve justice for those whose applications were lost this year, township assessors will prepare lists of eligible taxpayers and forward them to the county government.

"The assessors and the supervisor of assessments will develop and certify these lists after adding or deleting any names missed or ineligible. Then the county treasurer will handle them as tax adjustments," County Clerk Evelyn Bowles said this week.

Such taxpayers will not have to pay their taxes under protest, nor will they have to pay a $10 filing fee.

In mid-September, owners with assessment multipliers on their farm buildings were authorized by the County Board to receive tax adjustments without protests or fees.

A proposal drawn up by State's Attorney Donald Weber last week called for granting Bill 1790 exemptions to all owner-occupied homes, whether or not the owners had applied. That idea was dropped for now, however, after a discussion between his staff and the county clerk, treasurer and several County Board members.

"It would have thrown the whole taxing cycle so far out of synchronization that it just wasn't practical," Miss Bowles commented.

"Had the exemption been given automatically, the county would have had to start the tax cycle all over again."

To grant the exemptions carte blanche would have meant going back to the beginning, recomputing the values for the taxing districts, re-certifying the abstract to the state, recomputing the rates, running new collector books and making new tax bills.

"Then, what would we have done with all the people who already had paid their taxes and whose money already had been distributed to the taxing bodies?" It just wouldn't have worked.

"People who did not apply for 1790 and homestead exemptions but who feel they should be awarded them still will have to pay their taxes under protest."

"They must pay under protest, file objections and go through the regular procedure. We don't want to deny anyone anything, but this is the only way we can do it this year. Everyone still has the option of going through the courts, as taxpayers always have."

In future years, a mechanism is to be devised so that Bill 1790 exemptions are granted automatically, eliminating the need to send them to the county

Many urging a 2nd river lock

By BILL WINTER

Sinking of a towboat in Granite City's main river lock a week ago is being cited by advocates of a second Alton replacement lock. They say it underscores the necessity for having a second lock at each site.

Because Granite City Locks No. 27 consist of two facilities, locks 1,200 and 600 feet long—the sinking that put the big lock out of commission for parts of four days did not halt Mississippi River traffic here.

A new dam and lock are being built two miles south of the Alton locks and dam to replace those aging facilities. But there has been no authorization for a second lock, even though a single lock would be vulnerable to accidents and congestion, it is being pointed out.

A day before the Sept. 24 mishap in the Granite City Lock, U. S. Senator Charles H. Percy of Illinois announced in Washington his support for authorization of a second lock at the new Lock and Dam No. 26.

The senator cited a vote the previous week by the Upper Mississippi River Basin Commission (UMRBC) to recommend to Congress that a second lock be built to ease the flow of river traffic.

Proponents are saying it is vital to proceed with planning of a second lock at this time, in order to achieve economies while the dam and the initial

County raises monthly bus payment

Cooperation for the benefit of all was stressed during the first meeting of the Madison County Transit Board with the new interim executive director of the Bi-State Development Agency, John Poelker, yesterday in Edwardsville.

The Madison County transit group made the first move to show concrete evidence of its cooperation, increasing the monthly payment to Bi-State from $110,000 to $165,000, and Poelker pledged to study Madison County's request for a bus garage in this county and more hiring of Madison County residents.

Poelker, the former mayor of St. Louis, also pledged to reduce between 50 and 60 people from the Bi-State payroll to eliminate 25 to 30 of the 85 vehicles used for administrative purposes.

The increased monthly payment by the transit district to Bi-State will enable the county to fulfill its contract with the transit agency by Dec. 31, when the agreement expires. Even at the increased level, the support being given to Bi-State is considerably less than the estimated $2 million a year being generated by the one-quarter cent sales tax imposed to support public trans-

Observance of Port Week to open Monday

The two Senator Sams — Senator Sam Vadalabene and the towboat named "Senator Sams" — in his honor will be busy Monday as they travel together from the Tri-City Regional Port to middle of the Mississippi River to meet Missouri Governor Kenneth Rothman and sign a joint declaration observing Port of Metropolitan St. Louis Week Week, which begins Monday.

The boats carrying Vadalabene and Lt. Gov. Rothman then will travel to Laclede's Lookout (the top deck of the Laclede's Landing parking garage) for a ceremony, hosted by St. Louis Mayor John Poelker.

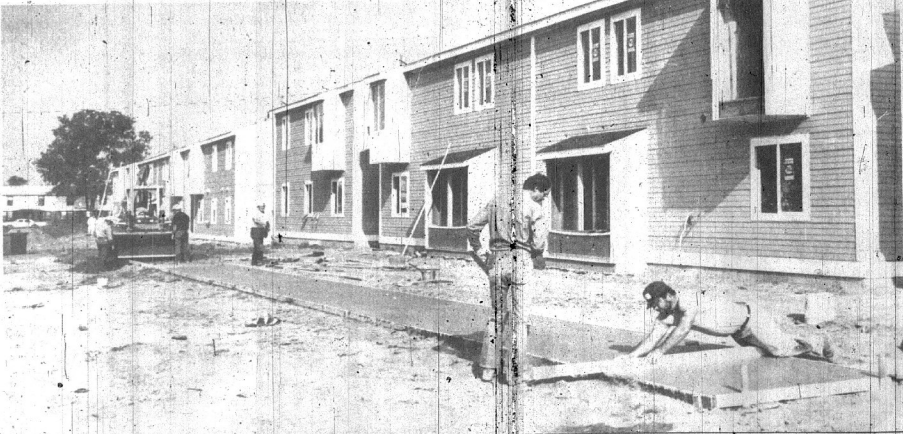

For those who would like to witness the midstream declaration, the U.S. Corps of Engineers' "Pathfinder" will be leaving the base of the Gateway Arch at 3 p.m. Monday and will accept as many persons as possible for the trip to midstream and then to Laclede's Landing.

Monday's observance will open a full week of activities honoring Port Week, which is designed to make residents more aware of the facilities of the area ports and the importance the ports and barge transportation have on their everyday lives.

More than 1,000 high school seniors from throughout the Quad-City area are scheduled to take special tours of the Tri-City Regional Port facilities and Lock 27 Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 6 and 7.

Wednesday, Oct. 8, special arrangements have been made for about 300 local senior citizens to tour the port. Buses will pick the seniors up at various locations for the event and arrangements may be made by calling the local senior citizen center. In

Press must enforce Open Meetings Act, speakers say

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Without the press enforcing it, one law passed by the state legislature this year will be nothing but a worthless piece of paper.

speakers at the Illinois Press Association's state convention in Decatur stressed during the three-day event last weekend.

That law is the new Open Meetings Act, which tightens the restrictions under which governmental bodies and commissions may hold closed-door meetings, beginning Jan. 1. The law requires that minutes be kept of all meetings not open to the public and newspapers or the public could, with proper documentation, ask a judge to review the minutes of any closed meeting and rule whether or not the meeting dealt with subjects for which closed meetings are allowed, such as personnel, negotiations, and land acquisition by governmental agencies.

Attorneys on a legal panel who appeared before representatives from newspapers throughout the state stressed the point brought out by Attorney General Tyrone Fahner during the convention—that newspapers must serve as the "watchdog" over violations of the Open Meetings Act, or it will be useless. "The First Amendment (to the U.S. Constitution) is very fragile. It must be protected and it is your job to do so, even if it means an outflow of some capital," the attorneys warned.

Attorney General Fahner told the media representatives, "We need your help, so the Open Meetings Act has some meaning. It is a weapon for good and open government," he stressed.

Fahner, State Sen. Prescott Bloom (R-Peoria) and State Rep. Jim Reilly (R-Jacksonville) were presented plaques by the IPA in recognition of their work in getting the new Open Meetings Act approved, despite some very well-organized opposition.

Fahner noted that the Open Meetings Act, when used in conjunction with the Public Records Act and the Freedom of Information Act, should provide the press with a very good insight into the workings and activities of most governmental units so that the public can be properly informed of such activities.

Also addressing the IPA convention was Governor Jim Thompson, who stressed that Illinois is "relatively strong, reliably prosperous and I believe we will get through the recession without a general tax increase for general purposes."

He said that the state ended the fiscal year with a $197 million balance, which is below the $200 million "warning zone" for unexpected expenditures, but said that, when compared to other states in the Midwest, Illinois is in far better economic condition.

He said the economy has remained stable, despite full funding for schools and a loss of revenue from assessment reduction legislation and other factors. "We have not put into our educational base. I look on education as our future and it is our number one priority," Thompson said.

However, he warned, "Recession has hit Illinois extremely hard and we're going to have a tough year ahead fiscally, probably our worst. I believe people would rather try to get by with a little less government for one year than raise taxes or to have the state borrow."

He urged the legislators to uphold the vetoes he has made in spending bills to help keep the state treasury stable, without borrowing.

One tax increase the governor contended is badly needed is an increase in the gasoline tax for highway repairs. He noted that the gasoline tax has not increased in 12 years, so the average motorist is spending a much smaller percentage of his income on motor fuel taxes now than he did 12 years ago, while the cost of repairs to highways has increased dramatically.

He said a higher gas tax and increased fees for road plates are needed so that deteriorating roads can be repaired now, before they need replacing, which would be, in the governor's wording, "prohibitive."

Without good roads, Illinois could severely harm its transportation network and that would detract from the state's ability to attract new industry or to keep existing industry, he contended.

He said the thrust of the state's efforts this year will be to attract small and medium-sized businesses, which make up between 70 and 90 percent of the businesses in the various areas of the state, if the roads are allowed to deteriorate to where "you are actually driving on rock, as we saw on the Pennsylvania Turnpike—literally on rock," the state will lose its attractiveness to industries which depend on truck traffic to exist.

Governor Thompson admitted that he has not been able to accomplish all he has set out to do during his time in office. Responding to one man's complaint about a backlog of pending cases for unemployment insurance benefits, Thompson announced that he is in the process of putting together a task force which will be charged with overhauling the Illinois Bureau of Employment Security. He said he hopes such a task force will be able to make recommendations on a restructuring of that bureau to make it more responsive to the public's needs.

Employment, and the lack of it, also was at the heart of a talk by State Comptroller Roland Burris at the IPA convention. Burris noted that Illinois has the second highest unemployment rate among states with 450,000 persons presently unemployed.

"It hurts the income tax and the sales tax. We need to solve the problem of unemployment," Burris said, suggesting that everyone in the state do a better job in selling the assets of Illinois, not only to prospective new industries but to existing industries, to keep them here.

"We have relied on our laurels too long. We are being out-promoted by the sunbelt states. We have the air, water and rail closeness to the markets. We have the financial market in Chicago. We have skilled labor. Once we get to promoting it and selling it, we can go a long way toward alleviating the unemployment problem," Burris said.

He agreed with the governor that the state's current balance of $180 million is too low, saying that when the treasury balance reaches below $200 million, he feels he should sound a warning. "Not the panic button."

General tax relief, including the Circuit Breaker for senior citizens, has reduced the state treasury budget by $35 million, and elimination of taxes on farm machinery and other equipment purchases has further reduced the state's income. "Had you sent it, we sure would have spent it," Burris said of the tax reductions.

He noted that a proposed $14.5 billion budget was cut by $300 million, but that still leaves $14.6 billion appropriated. "Revenue is not the problem. Last year, $193 million more was spent than was taken in. Spending is the problem. We must be very careful and we must watch our expenditures," he warned.

Secretary of State Jim Edgar also addressed the press association, saying he is proud of the news media, which helped in passage of the most effective drunk driving law in the U.S. "It would not have been successful without the press in Illinois," Edgar said.

Nationally syndicated columnist Robert Novak, whose political column written with Rowland Evans Jr. appears in numerous newspapers and publications across the nation, upheld his reputation as the "black knight" of political writers, saying he felt that President Reagan's televised speech to the nation Sept. 24 indicated that Reagan has fallen into the old Republican line of austerity and budget-cutting as the means to alleviate tough economic conditions.

He accused the president of switching from the political advisors who guided his campaign to the presidential advisors who formulated the Nixon-Ford ideas, but said the president clings to his hopes that the country can grow through prosperity and growth, aided by tax cuts.

"High taxes are a wedge restricting the productivity of America," Novak stated. "The next three months will decide what kind of America we will live in: the Reagan we live in," he added, expressing a concern that President Reagan must continue to show strength and leadership while encouraging economic growth.

When Congress perceives a president is in trouble, it has a tendency to become vicious," Novak said. He predicted that Reagan will lose the vote on the AWACS sale, which will be humiliating for him, but the speaker said he believes Reagan will be able to overcome his critics, or the 1982 elections could be "a Republican disaster."

Novak contended that the United States should return to the gold standard of securing its money. "No country has retained its stability around the world unless that currency is backed by gold," he stated.

During the association's annual awards banquet, top prizes for overall excellence were awarded to the Chilton's Bulletin, the Mundeline Herald and the Decatur Herald Review.

Adult enrichment courses for Catholics in this area

Donald J. Gehlhausen, consultant for adult enrichment in the Catholic Education Office of the Springfield Catholic Diocese, has announced adult enrichment courses to be held in Granite City.

Growth in Understanding the New Testament will be offered by the Rev. Seamus Shortal at the Sacred Heart Rectory basement, 2906 Washington Ave., beginning Oct. 6 from 7 to 9 p.m. for six weeks.

In the first Christian communities, the great redemptive acts and teachings of Jesus were the central reality. In this course, I will explore the New Testament as the recording of those acts and teachings," Rev. Shortal said.

The Rev. Henry Schmidt and Sister Rosella Uding, EDP, will cover a six-week course entitled Sacraments: A Catechesis for Parents. It will be taught on Wednesday evenings beginning Oct. 7 from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at St. Elizabeth School, 2300 Pontoon Road.

In this course, Father Schmidt and Sister Rosella will affirm the traditional family celebrations of the sacraments as witnessed in the early Christian communities.

The classes will prepare parents and other interested adults for "mainstreaming their children into the life of Jesus and His church through the sacraments of initiation, the sacraments of healing and the social sacraments," a spokesman said.

Pre-schoolers and television

By PROFESSOR ROBERT E. ROCKWELL
Director of Early Childhood Education, SIUE

How much television should a preschooler watch? Which programs should he see? This list of questions is endless because most parents wonder about their children's television watching habits. Your interest in this particular subject is good because it shows a healthy concern for your child's growth and development. This article will discuss children and television and suggest some ways to think about how television can be used in your home.

In the past, people wondered whether children should watch television at all. Today, we realize that television is here to stay and can be both a powerful educational tool and a source of entertainment. The question for us today is, how much television and what kinds of programs should preschoolers watch?

When deciding on the amount of television your child will view, keep in mind that no hard and fast rules apply. Children in different families watch different amounts of television and you must determine the best amount for each of your own children. Begin by asking yourself what the child does when he is not watching television. The child who does nothing but watch television needs some help in learning to play and use his imagination.

The child who actively plays with other children his age and who occupies himself with imaginative activities when alone will probably be able to watch one and one-half to two hours of television each day with no harm.

Another point to keep in mind is that you may want to vary the viewing time depending on the weather. For example, during the summer, children may prefer to play outside and not watch their favorite programs. On rainy or wintry inside days, however, you may find it necessary to allow more television time.

Using these general guidelines, you can decide exactly how much time your child will spend watching television and under which conditions you might want to vary viewing time.

Now, having decided the amount of time to be spent in front of the television, which programs should your preschoolers watch? Today, programs for young children are improving. Sesame Street, Mr. Rogers, Electric Blue, Captain Kangaroo are among the best programs available.

When selecting television programs for your preschooler, keep in mind that the program should not be the only way he finds out about the world. It is more important that your child play and learn from experiences with real people and real situations than from the artificial experience television provides.

Another key in picking programs is to choose those that are at the level of your preschooler. Ask yourself, "Will what he sees have any real meaning for him?"

In discussing television for preschoolers, I have presented three thoughts for your consideration. First, a child who plays along with other children in imaginative and fun ways can probably watch up to one and one-half to two hours of television a day.

Next, I suggested the idea that television programs not be the only way your child learns about the world.

Finally, I suggested that you make sure the programs your child watches are at his level of understanding.

By accepting television as something that is here to stay and by regulating how it is used in your home, you will be helping your child learn that television is only one of many sources of information and pleasure.

Robert Burns funeral held

Services for Robert W. Burns, 81, of 518 Main St., Venice, were held at 9 a.m. Wednesday at Lahay Funeral Home, 501 Madison Ave., Madison. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Edwardsville Township.

Mounds among state historical journal topics

The lead article in the October Journal of the Illinois State Historical Society concerns the struggle for civil rights among Illinois blacks in the generation after the Civil War. Roger D. Bridges, head librarian and director of research at the Illinois State Historical Library, discusses the many political and legal obstacles in the path of blacks from 1865 to 1885, the year in which civil rights legislation was passed in Illinois.

A biography of one of the nation's pioneers in early Illinois is presented in this issue by Eric A. Ernst of Glenview. John A. Kennedy, a Cook County physician, became a horticulturist of national renown in the mid-19th century. His home, Kenilworth Grove, has been designated a national historic site.

Events surrounding an eight-week strike by federal employees at the Rock Island Arsenal are described by U.S. Army historian Joseph P. Harahan. A few months after the Spanish-American War of 1898, civilian employees of the arsenal walked off the job in a dispute with the military officers. The workers, most of whom were members of the International Association of Machinists, received broad state and national support for their action.

McLean County during the worldwide 1918-1919 influenza epidemic is the subject of an article by nurse Karen A. Walters of Normal. She shows the efforts to combat the deadly virus, particularly by local branches of the American Red Cross.

The final article is an account of Trappist monks who in 1810 established a monastery at the Cahokia Indian mounds in Madison County. Historian Raymond H. Hammes has edited the reports of a St. Louis journalist who visited "Monks' Mission" in 1811.

The Journal is published quarterly by the Illinois State Historical Society.

Bus changes will affect W. Granite

Beginning Monday, Oct. 5, bus service in St. Clair County will be reduced. The reductions have been approved by the St. Clair County Transit District, which has entered into a contractual agreement with the Bi-State Development Agency for bus service in that county.

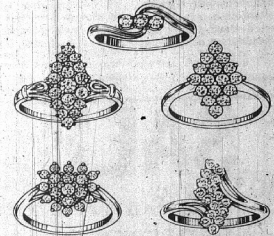

The contract calls for eliminating seven bus lines, rerouting and extending four others to replace portions of the routes being deleted; and reducing the hours of service or expanding intervals on six lines.

Routes being altered include No. 533, the West Granite Stockyards bus. It will be extended through the Goose Hill Area via First, Exchange, Third, Winstanley and Fourth streets to replace service lost by discontinuation of the Missouri Avenue-Stockyards line.

Nameoki urges continuation of revenue sharing program

By MARK RESMANN for the Press-Record Trustees of the Nameoki Town Board, with one exception, decided Monday night to voice its opinion on revenue sharing cuts proposed recently by President Ronald Reagan.
The board voted to send letters to the president,
Illinois Governor Jim Thompson and Illinois senators and representatives strongly voicing opposition to proposed revenue sharing cuts. The board's message is that, if anything, townships should receive more in the way of revenue sharing, not less.

"Now is the time to build strong township governments—not destroy them," the letter said. Township Supervisor Harry Briggs said he expects similar letters to be sent by other townships to protest the proposed cuts.

"We need all the mail we can get," he told the town board. He then asked each board member to sign a copy of the letter. Five letters would be more effective than one, he said.

As the letters were being given to the board members for their signatures, Trustee Helen Hawkins told Briggs she could not bring herself to sign the letter. "I just see too much of the revenue sharing funds being wasted," she told Briggs. She contended that many times revenue sharing funds go toward payrolls, instead of being used to benefit the citizens.

Briggs explained to her that the reason for the letter was simply to protest the cut in funds. He said the funds are needed by the township and said he hoped the letter would result in their continued availability.

Mrs. Hawkins said she still thinks too much is being wasted and refused to sign her copy of the letter.
"That's your prerogative," Briggs said.

During a discussion later in the meeting, Briggs suggested appropriating revenue sharing funds to aid the Bellemore-Miracle Manor Street Light District next year. "That is, if we have any revenue sharing funds," he added.

Fall—a good time of the year

By CHARLES WATTERS

This is a good time of year. You know, sunny days when standing in the shade you feel a little cool but standing in the sunlight feels just right. I guess I like it best because the neighborhood takes on a different look.

Garages are being cleaned out, moving everything from one side to the other to make room for the car that'll sit outside most of the winter. Leaves being raked that will end up on the lawn.

garden or as fuel for our backyard warmer. Maybe this year I won't burn my marshmallows.

Fall is the time of year when I trade my household winterizing tips for those of my neighbors. Like keeping the thermostat as low as possible through the winter. For every degree below 70 degrees you can save about 3 percent of your annual heating bill. One of my neighbors mentioned this last year.

You never know when a good idea will cross your path. Some have to be thought about before they sink in. An example of this type is the information on a box of laundry soap. I never knew this before but a lot of clothes can be washed in cold water. Now on the surface this isn't the kind of information you think of, much less talk about with your neighbors. No one wants to hear about your dirty laundry. But using cold water means the heater has to warm up less water ... and that saves money.

It has to be three years in a row now that I've heard the best way to clean out the chimney is from the roof if you have a wood burning stove. Just put a large wire brush on the end of a rope and drop it down the chimney. (I just replace my furnace filters instead.) I can't remember how many times I've mentioned closing the outside vents under the house ... the ones that let in fresh air during the summer. Someone is caulked around the windows and doors. And if an autumn went by without my next-door neighbor telling me to check the anti-freeze and window washer fluid in the car — well, autumn just wouldn't be the same.

We all have our favorites that we like to pass on to each other. Maybe next year I'll throw in a couple of new ones ... just to see if I can save their eyebrows. Something like building a simple coldframe so I can grow garden vegetables well into November. All it takes is some scrap lumber and an old storm window. Or, perhaps my favorite ... mailing soda bottle caps to a board to make a she scraper. We made these as kids by just removing the cork from the cap and putting the flat ends of the cap next to the board and attaching it with a roofing nail. It would clean the mud off bottoms of shoes like the best store mat.

Fall is a good time just to talk over the backyard fence. We usually trade life same tips every year, but we never remind each other of that fact. There's something relaxing about hearing the same stories every year.

make our recommendations for a rate increase very tenuous," the report says.

There is an unexplained drop in the number of accounts being billed now as compared with several years ago. There appears to be as many as 1,000 less users. No available data support this magnitude of change. We have suggested this be thoroughly checked by MESD personnel.

The present rate ordinance calls for three separate block rates for residential users. At present, all residential users are being charged the minimum block rate. Not only is this contrary to the rate ordinance, it has decreased our billings a minimum of $20,000 per year and probably closer to $30,000, Sallwasser contends.

He continues, "The billing and collection of user charges for both industrial accounts and non-industrial accounts has been inconsistent and makes the recent records unusable for making reliable projections for the future."

The study notes that the Lansdowne Treatment Plant bills 6,996 accounts, primarily residential users, who are billed a total of $159,400 a year. Other quarterly accounts are billed for $13,700 a year and monthly accounts (businesses) are billed $121,200 a year for a total billed of $294,300. In addition, the city of East St. Louis is billed $2,394 a month, but has not been paying its bills.

Assuming that 85 percent of the bills are paid, that would produce approximately $250,000 a year to operate the Lansdowne plant, the consultant notes.

A total of $345,539 is budgeted for treatment expenses, but actual expenses are expected to be $355,500 in the 1982-83 fiscal year. Therefore, an additional $105,300 is needed to balance expenditures with income, which would require a 42 percent increase in the treatment rates, the study shows.

It notes that if the 85 percent collection rate were increased to 97 percent, the needed increase in rates would be needed. However, if the collection rate deteriorates to 80 percent, the needed increase in rates would be 51 percent.

If an additional 500 residential users could be added to the sewer line, "that would generate about $12,000 a year and reduce the required rate increase from 42 percent to 36 percent," the report notes.

It also states, "We have not included any income from East St. Louis in the billings or collections because of the past experience. Should East St. Louis start paying their charges, the income at the present rate would increase approximately $28,000 per year."

Greathouse says East St. Louis is not the only problem. "In Lovejoy (Brooklyn), 90 percent of the people have not paid in years. I was amazed this week when I found out that Dick Allen (an attorney for the sanitary district) had collected some from Lovejoy and is making progress there."

"We have worked one year now on collecting these overdue bills. It is beginning to look like we finally hit the point where we can't collect much more, but we are not going to give up. I think we are at a point where we can justify a rate increase by the first of the year," he added.

"We cannot continue to operate these treatment plants at a deficit. The EPA (Illinois Environmental Protection Agency) has a gun cocked at our head. We can't get by with these ridiculously low sewer rates anymore."

"I expect the EPA to cite the Lansdowne Plant next," Greathouse stated, referring to the recent "threat" by the EPA to close the Cahokia plant if certain repairs were not made immediately to stop raw pollution from escaping into the Mississippi River.

Repairs to the Cahokia plant are nearly completed, Greathouse said, noting that the project will have cost between $25,000 to $35,000 by the time it is done, not counting the cost of the labor done by sanitary districts. He said, "There is no doubt in my mind that the repairs would have cost $150,000 to $200,000 if we had contracted the work out, and I think the problems at Lansdowne are just as great and will have to be undertaken soon," Greathouse added.

"It's simple. We just cannot put this kind of money to keep these plants operating in good condition and justify it with the rates we have now."

"There will be a rate increase by the first of the year and that is a flat statement. How much it will be, we don't know now. That will depend on what kind of a job we do between now and then in collecting these overdue bills. People can help hold the increase down by paying their bills now," he concluded.

Property taxes

officials said.

Such exemptions, reducing inflation-related assessment increases, are given automatically already in all but three of the 102 Illinois counties. "For those who did apply for anti-inflation or senior citizen assessment exemptions but did not receive them, adjusted tax bills will be sent before the second installment of property taxes is due in the late fall of 1981."

The adjusted bills will give credit for the exemptions to which the home owners are entitled.

Decisions reached at the weekend meeting of officials made it unnecessary to call for a special County Board meeting this week, a plan that was under consideration.

The first installment of property taxes was due from all property owners on Wednesday, Sept. 30.

For those who failed to apply for the exemptions but otherwise qualify for them, it will be necessary to go to Edwardsville, pay their taxes under protest, and receive the exemptions on an adjusted bill for the second installment.

Robert Harris of Granite City, chairman of the Madison County Board of Review, said the board will abide by Weber's recommendations as modified by the other county officials.

Harris and Fred Pinck of the Board of Review said the board until now has followed procedures outlined by Dale Young, Illinois Department of Revenue legal counsel, including the application of township multipliers to farm buildings.

Easing of "red tape" has been sought by the Organizing Committee for Eastern Madison County, a group of rural and agricultural property owners.

The Organizing Committee has voiced praise for the compromise reached by county officers. Weber has met several times with the committee.

County Treasurer Michael "Mick" Henkhaus agreed to cooperate with the new approach but says no tax bills will be amended without written authorization from the state's attorney to do so.

First-installment bills were mailed in early September throughout the county, several months behind schedule. A factor in the timing was the necessity for the Board of Review to conduct about 15,000 hearings on tax protests.

Free's suit seeks judgments of more than $15,000 against both the township and highway commissioner. Attorney for the plaintiffs in both suits is Rex Carr.

Nameoki township sued over 1980 auto crash

Nameoki Township and its highway commissioner, Frank Mehelec, are named in two recently filed lawsuits concerning an automobile accident Oct. 22, 1980.

The suits, filed Sept. 25, allege that the township and highway commissioner were negligent. A pothole in Rock Road 1 to 1½ miles north of West Pontoon Road allegedly caused the accident, the suits state.

Daniel Kelley of Granite City died in the accident when his car went out of control, ran off the road and hit a tree at 10:30 p.m., one suit states. The suit was filed by his mother, Linda Miles. The other suit was filed by Timothy Free, and claims that Free, also of Granite City, was injured in the accident. He is a passenger in Kelley's car. The Kelley-Miles suit seeks judgments of $15,000 plus court costs against the township and road commissioner in behalf of Kelley, and unspecified judgments for Miles for hospital, death, funeral and burial expenses.

In December, students will receive a Report of Student Answers which displays the correct answers and the students' responses as well as scores. Schools will return test booklets at the same time so that students can review the original questions. Students will also receive About Your PSAT-NMSQT Scores, a booklet containing information on interpreting PSAT-NMSQT results and on general college planning.

The PSAT-NMSQT is co-sponsored by the College Board and National Merit Scholarship Corporation. It is administered annually to more than one million students and measures verbal and mathematical abilities that are important in college work.

Postage rise to 20-cents due Nov. 1

The 18-cent postage stamp, which was issued for only 7½ months, may soon be a collector's item as the cost of mailing a first-class letter will increase to 20 cents, effective Nov. 1.

The Postal Service's Board of Governors yesterday bypassed the independent Postal Rate Commission for the first time in a general rate hike case under the Postal Reorganization Act of 1970, which gave the Board of Governors authority to overturn decisions of the rate commission, but only if the board's decision is unanimous in their decision.

Yesterday, they were unanimous.

The rate package also boosts the cost of mailing a postcard from 12 cents to 13 cents, and lowers the cost of a second-class mail, including newspapers and magazines.

The Postal Rate Commission turned down a request for a 20-cent stamp when it boosted first-class postage from 15 cents to 18 cents March 22. Since that time, the PRC has reaffirmed that decision twice.

The boost to 20 cents is being challenged in federal court by the National Association of Greeting Card Publishers and the Mail Order Association, but it is not expected to postpone the effective date for the increase.

The Postal Service expects to show a profit of $100 million by February as the 20-cent rate will apply through the Christmas season, the busiest time of the year for the post offices.

Until now 20-cent stamps can be printed, a "C" stamp, the show the 18-cent "A" stamp issued May 29, 1979, and the 18-cent "B" stamp issued March 22, 1981, will be pressed into service.

Mayor attacks press and Home Rule critics

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

Madison Mayor Mike Sayk, in an attempt to defend the proposed Home Rule issue, accused "Letters to the Editor" in the Press-Record and an article appearing in the St. Louis Post Dispatch as having incorrect information and misleading figures as to various costs of projects, taxes and Home Rule powers.

He pointed out in regard to the 1980 tax bill, that the rate for the city's services was $2.046 per $100 assessed valuation, and that the 1981 city rate (collected in the summer of 1982) is estimated at only $1.24 per $100 assessed valuation.

City Comptroller Al Hudzik distributed a comparison figures on real estate taxes paid to the city for the 1980 tax year (collected in the summer of 1981) and the estimated real estate taxes for 1981.

Three examples were given. One was for a property owner who is now paying a total tax bill of $490 and the city's portion of $124.06. The real estate bill for collection next summer for the same property is estimated at $552, with the city portion dropping to $75.37.

A citizen commented, "This is fine, Mike (Sayk), but it does not take into consideration monies from the utility tax, which makes our taxes higher. How much is the city going to take in from the utility tax?"

Mayor Sayk said, "Until we know where we are, we don't want to shoot in the dark." He said it will be several months before the city is certain of the amount the utility tax will raise.

Sayk disagreed with the newspaper article in the Post, and a similar letter in the Press-Record in which a Madison citizen, contended he had already paid $50 in just two months because of the utility tax. The mayor said he believes the resident or bill are incorrect.

In regard to the new shopping mall, Sayk said, "People are just not aware that the shopping center is going to pay for itself. In no way will the people of Madison pay for it."

"When the banks buy the bonds they cannot make the city pay. Should a tenant of the shopping center not pay, the bank could foreclose on the individual store, but it could not force the city to pay. We project the city will begin to earn about $15,000 from increased sales tax when the new stores open."

"In about 15 years, when the rent pays for the shopping center's cost and some community development funds are paid back, the city will make even more, as the city then will get the money from rent and sales tax," Sayk said.

Returning to the subject of the utility tax, Sayk said, "We feel the utility tax is fair to everyone. Costs of city services are increasing every year. Our employees should have had raises this year, but we could not give them. Everything keeps going up in price and everyone knows that. So does the cost of maintaining city services go up."

"I would like the citizens to really compare the services the city provides and how small the cost is, compared to other cities anywhere. People have a right to criticize the city administration. What I am asking is to make sure it is the truth. We still have to live by the state constitution."

In regard to the city-owned cable television network which should begin operations soon, Sayk said, "There is no way we can assess a tax to pay for cable TV. If you do not use it, you do not pay for it. This is not just cable TV. We are having a burglar alarm system with it, fire alarms, and other emergency systems."

"I have no doubt that if cable TV does not make the city money, we can sell it for five or six times what we have invested," Sayk emphasized.

A citizen, Jess Tawney, commented, "Mike, you never asked anyone in Madison if they wanted cable TV and I have never heard of anyone buying a dead horse for five times what the horse cost when it was alive." Sayk responded, "When the cable TV is installed, you will save 25 percent on your insurance, because of the alarm system. Cable TV is the hottest thing going today."

Sayk added, "We are looking for tools to make this a better city. During the past years, we have blacktopped the streets and the alleys, at no extra tax cost; we have installed better lighting; we have new and more efficient trash pickup which is designed to save the citizens money, all of which you pay for in other cities."

"Taxes are lower than in 1970. I'd like to debate anyone on this issue. We have given a lot of services without additional costs and taxes. This administration should be commended rather than receive criticism in the papers."

Stille pledges efficiency if elected to county office

Robert C. Stille, supervisor of Edwardsville Township for the past five years, running for the Democratic Nomination as Madison County treasurer in next year's primary election, promises faster tax collection and distribution.

Stille, 52, a lifelong Democrat, presently serves as Precinct Four committeeman in Edwardsville and is on the executive board of the Madison County Democratic Committee.

Stille said this week his decision was made after receiving encouragement from both business and labor sources.

"I believe that my many years as a private businessman and my experience in local government amply qualify me for the position of county treasurer."

"I believe I can run the office much more efficiently than the present treasurer, and my early pledge is to see that tax money due school districts, municipalities and other taxing bodies would not be held up needlessly, ending the necessity of costly borrowing," he said.

Stille is married to the former Wanda Johnson of Alton, and they have four children.

He attended four years of a carpenter's apprentice school, after which he worked for contractors and went into the contracting business himself. He has constructed various commercial and residential buildings in this region.

Stille has been a member of the Carpenters' Apprenticeship Board and the Madison County Builders Association and served as president of the Edwardsville Builders Association.

He was president of the Montclair Pool Association and has been a member of Edwardsville Knights of Columbus Council 1143 for the last 30 years.

Stille entered the political arena in 1973, with his election as tax collector of His brother, Scott Horton, said that they had been at the home of a friend working on tape recordings when Dennis Horton left and was killed.

The driver of the car, Jack R. Moore, has been charged by Ponton Beach police with leaving the scene of an accident.

Homecoming week begins on Monday

Granite City High School South. Homecoming week begins Monday, with activities lasting through Friday, Oct. 9.

Who will be the Queen? That will be a secret until after the first performance of the play "Bye Bye Birdie" Wednesday evening.

Candidates for the South homecoming queen are Angie Griffith, Jane Lee, Sue Burnett, Kim Evans, DeeDee Durbin, Sandy Mendoza, Pam Staley, Mary Brandt, Mary Jenkins and Sandie Laster.

Escorts for the queen and her court are Rich Moore, Joe Schifke, Roger Smith, Ken McManus, Dan Edwards, Mike Lovins, Mike Bunjan, Dave Pab, Brian Willis and Mike More.

The play and presentation of the Queen and court will take place on both Wednesday and Thursday. The play starts at 7:30 p.m. each night with the presentation of the court immediately following both shows.

A pep bonfire will start at 7 p.m. near the football field to set the spirit of the week and put the Warriors football team in the mood for the homecoming theme, "Warriors Stomp Stealers."

On Friday afternoon, Oct. 9, about 2:30 p.m., will be a homecoming parade with traditional floats, prior to the football game between cross-town rivals South and the Granite City High School North Stealers.

The South versus North game will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Memorial Stadium on Fehling Road, behind the South campus.

The Homecoming dance will be held after the game in the home cafeteria. Admission to the dance is $1.50 and music will be by Jpy Bery.

transportation in the county.

However, Bi-State's actual losses on its Illinois routes, may force the transit districts of Madison and St. Clair counties to increase their funding soon.

Samuel Schold, transit district manager for Madison and St. Clair counties, said he was shocked when Bi-State's bill to cover actual operating losses for the period April 1 to June 30 was "significantly higher" than expected.

He noted that the quarterly bill for Madison County was $330,000 and the bill for St. Clair County of $789,690 were met with shock.

The St. Clair County bill was about $280,000 higher than expected and Miss Schold pointed out that the estimated $2 million the quarter-cent sales tax is expected to generate annually in St. Clair County will not be enough to cover bills of $800,000 a quarter (each three months).

St. Clair County officials are considering deeper transit cuts there to reduce operating losses. Bi-State has already announced cuts which will begin Monday under a contract between the St. Clair County Mass Transit District Board and Bi-State.

Among the routes being altered under that plan are the West Granite-Stockyards route and the East St. Louis-Fairview Heights line. Lines being eliminated are the Caseyville-

Other businessmen have expressed opposition for the supplemental tax, but

Introduce Maryville faculty

Maryville Parent-Teacher Association resumed its meeting schedule for the current school year Tuesday night. About 60 attended.

Principal Jack Mulach discussed educational goals, hopefully to be accomplished at each grade level. He also introduced members of the faculty.

The 1981-82 PTA officers were presented to the assembled group. They include:

Linda Gordon, president; Kathy Mitchell, vice president; Brenda Weckman, secretary; and Emily Hahn, treasurer.

The proposed budget was reviewed by members of the budget committee—William Badger, Dennis Gordon, Dennis Henderson, Barbara Bryan and Mrs. Hahn.

Plans to start a candy sale on Friday were announced by Tina O'Sha, who said awards will be available to participating students.

Linda Badger reported the room mothers will meet at 9 a.m. Oct. 14 at the school and Mrs. Mitchell said plans are underway to initiate a bowling league for parents.

The Maryville unit has a current membership of 110, Sarah Huber reported.

A total of 117 pupils took part in the first PTA sponsored skate night last week at the Starlight Rink. The next skating party will be Oct. 15, Mrs. Hahn said.

Open house is planned at the school on Nov. 16, Mulach informed the parents.

AT CALIFORNIA BASE Marine Lance Cpl. Glenn E. Cooper, son of Bessie M. Cooper of 95 Hill St., Madison, has reported for duty with Wing Transportation Squadron 37, Marine Corps Air Station, El Toro, Calif. A graduate of Venice High School, he joined the Marine Corps in August 1979.

Collinsville, O'Fallon local, Waterloo-St. Louis, Tubman Express, Swansea-North Belt, Missouri-Stockyards and the East St. Louis Crestown route. All except the Swansea-North Belt run will be absorbed into expanded routes, it was explained.

The reason for the cutbacks is that the St. Clair County transit district does not want to end up owing Bi-State money if the voters in St. Clair County turn down the sales tax referendum on November 3.

The voters there will decide whether or not they want to continue collection of the quarter-cent sales tax in St. Clair County to support public transportation.

New distribution system for driver's education fund

Governor James R. Thompson has signed legislation that defines the distribution formula for the state Driver's Education Fund and provides more money for that fund.

"Young people in Illinois should be given the best possible instruction possible when they begin to learn the rules of the road," the governor said. "Amending the way funds are distributed for those programs in high schools across the state will ensure that quality driver education programs remain the rule rather than the exception."

Senate Bill 783 provides a new method of distribution of funds for driver education programs, taking into consideration pupil weightings. A base reimbursement amount is calculated by using the total number of students statewide who completed driver's education courses in a prior year and the total amount of revenue in the Driver's Education Fund.

The base reimbursement amount is then used to derive a per-pupil claim for each school district, ensuring that the money in the Fund is spent through the reimbursement program and making automatic adjustment easier.

The measure was sponsored by Senator John Maifland of Bloomington and Representative Gene Hoffman of Elmhurst.

House Bill 280 increases the cost of original driver's instruction permits from $8 to $20. Of that amount, $16 will be used by the Driver's Education Fund and the remainder is to be deposited in the Road Fund.

"The cost of driver education programs in the public high schools has been increasing steadily over the past few years," Thompson said. "This legislation will allow those needed programs to keep pace with escalating costs and maintain high standards. It also puts part of the responsibility of meeting program costs with those who benefit the most from it."

In other related legislative action, the governor recommended changes in a bill that duplicates the change in reimbursement formula for Driver Education Fund.

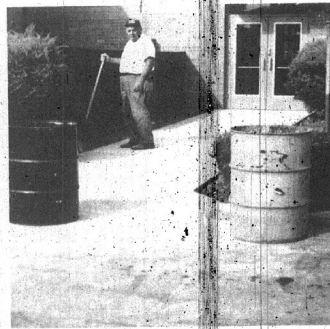

Senate Bill 666 requires that persons convicted of any offense under the Auto Theft Laws and Abandoned Vehicles section of the Illinois Vehicle Code to compensate the victim in the case.

The bill also calls for the creation of an additional penalty for Vehicle Code violations $5 for each $40. A portion of that money, four-fifths, will be deposited in the Driver Education Fund; House Bill 293 and Senate Bill 666 would provide a total of about $8.4 million in new revenue for the Fund.

A portion of that money, four-fifths, will be deposited in the Driver Education Fund; House Bill 293 and Senate Bill 666 would provide a total of about $8.4 million in new revenue for the Fund.

In another legislative matter, Thompson vetoed House Bill 132 which adds a new article to the criminal procedure code for post-conviction procedures.

"Public confidence in the criminal justice system is eroded by a perception that the law allows a virtually endless stream of post-conviction attempts to set aside the finding of guilt," Thompson said in his veto message.

HANDICAPPED ACCESS to St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church, 1500 S. Clair Ave., is now possible via a new ramp into the structure which is accessible from the rear parking lot. Tom Nesbitt, a parishioner, puts the finishing touches on the ramp which allows wheelchair-bound persons in addition to those with limited mobility to easily enter the church.

Highly-equipped Mitchell firemen mark 36th year

Mitchell area firefighters will observe their 36th year with an open house on Oct. 10.

The Mitchell volunteer fire department was organized in 1945 with seven volunteers. A fire district was approved by voters on Dec. 10, 1949. Art Paul, George Bugle and Joseph Trochler were appointed as district trustees.

The current trustees are Art LaRosa, Golden Barton and Gordon Routh.

There are 25 volunteer firemen, each equipped with a monitor-pumper. On fire calls are transmitted. There are ten fire phones located throughout the Mitchell area, to help ensure that someone will be there to answer the call.

The Mitchell fire protection district has a 1966 Ford pumper with 1,000-gallon water carrying capacity. This pumper has a power plant with four quarts of lights.

Both water tanks have a chemical called "fireout," designed to cool and eliminate fire rekindling.

Also, each pumper carries 10 gallons of foam for flammable liquid fires. The district has a 1973 four-wheel-drive pumper and a 1979 emergency-rescue vehicle.

The four-wheel-drive vehicle carries 300 gallons of water and a master stream nozzle.

The emergency vehicle carries 250 gallons of water and has all the latest rescue equipment.

Some of the equipment on this vehicle, includes the Hursi, "jaws of life," used for access; Hursi cutters used for cutting; and Hursi rams in two sizes, used for ramming and spreading.

Also, there are rescue air bags for heavy lifting, and many more items of basic rescue and first-aid equipment.

This vehicle has a 15,000-watt power plant with six quartz lights and a 300-horsepower square inch air compressor.

All of the vehicles are equipped with oxygen and used for access; Hursi cutters used for cutting; and Hursi rams in two sizes, used for ramming and spreading.

Firemen tell Mitchell residents: "To report a fire, call 311-1120. For business or questions call our other line on Sunday between 7 a.m. and 12 noon—931-0181. Remember, we are your fire department. We are here to help."

Fire Prevention Week will be observed Oct. 4-10. There will be an open house at the Mitchell fire station on Saturday, Oct. 10, from 9 a.m. till 6 p.m.

Demonstration and films will be going on all day, and refreshments will be served. The ladies' auxiliary will hold a bazaar and bake sale during the open house.

MARK J. GENOVESE TO JOIN AIR FORCE

Mark J. Genovese, son of Frank Genovese, 240 Sundry, has enlisted in the Air Force's delayed enlistment program, according to Technical Sergeant Slater, recruiter at 367½ Nameoki Road.

A 1978 graduate of Granite City High School South, he is scheduled for enlistment in the regular Air Force in February 1982. Upon graduation from six-week basic training, he will receive technical training in the security specialist field.

SPEEDING ARRESTS

Six motorists were charged Friday with speeding 41 to 48 miles per hour in a 30-mph zone on Johnson Road. Another driver was arrested that day for speeding 56 in a 35-mph area of Madison Avenue.

New book details life of Mormon leader, H. C. Kimball

Stanley B. Kimball, professor of historical studies at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, has written a book on the life of Heber C. Kimball, one of the early leaders in the Mormon Church. The book was published recently by the University of Illinois Press.

Heber C. Kimball was the Mormon Church's most colorful leaders. Professor Kimball said, "third in stature after Joseph Smith and Brigham Young, a most dedicated though reluctant polygamist, and the least inhibited preacher."

According to the author, for too long Heber Kimball has been known, if known at all, as Joseph Smith's missionary. Brigham Young's alter ego, or vice of the largest family in the Mormon Church, if not the western world. "But he was much more, as this work will show by presenting for the first time a full, affectionate, and candid portrait of this early leading Mormon apostle, and an inside view of his faith," Professor Kimball said.

"No other Mormon leader has exceeded his total devotion to Mormonism. For more than 36 years, in 10 states and England, Kimball faithfully served his God and his people, and strove to build both the spirit and the material Kingdom of God," the author said.

Form his acceptance of the new faith in 1832 until his death in 1868, Kimball was in the forefront of the excitement, drama, and turbulence of Mormon history. His life exemplified most of the strengths of Mormonism and some of its weaknesses, Professor Kimball said.

Heber Kimball's personal conviction manifested the essence of Mormonism to this day—that the heavens, allegedly sealed since biblical days, had been reopened, that the Church of Christ, which had changed over the centuries, had been restored (not just reformed) in 1830 by Joseph Smith, God's latter-day prophet, and that it was his (Heber's) duty to take this message to mankind whatever the cost.

The book details how Kimball lived fully, dramatically, and well-making his own way in the world; going abroad; fulfilling eight missions; fleeing persecution; crossing the plains; hunting buffalo; dealing with Indians; amusing wives, children, lands, cattle, and property; holding the Kingdom; holding political office; dealing with his enemies; alternately praising and castigating his people; and suffering domestically and physically.

His latest years were saddened by what he took to be opposition from his closest friends. He died confident that he had done his duty, Professor Kimball said.

The author's research and writing took nearly a full decade, led him to every important region connected with Heber Kimball's life, and gained him complete access to all church, public, and private sources relating to the Mormon leader.

Some of the major sources for information included all of Kimball's personal papers and speeches; hundreds of the family papers in state, national, Masonic, British, and private archival materials; newspapers, magazines, journals (including all Mormon publications printed during Kimball's lifetime); theses, dissertations, pamphlets, monographs, histories and travel accounts; and newsletters and other materials.

To acquire the feeling of locale and to experience the power of place, the SUE author visited every important region connected with Kimball's life and followed the trails he used on his way to the Great Basin in Utah.

Through his writing, Professor Kimball, great-grandson of the Mormon leader, reveals the man in all of his many dimensions—as a missionary, pioneer, preacher, politician, farmer, father, and husband.

Professor Kimball is the author of four books on Mormon history, four books on East European history, and over 60 articles on the two subjects. He currently serves as the historian of the Mormon Pioneer Trail Foundation.

Kimball also served as an adviser and guide for the National Geographic study of the Mormon trail several years ago. For his work on the trail, the Department of the Interior awarded Kimball the Outdoor Recreation Achievement Award in 1974.

CLAYTOR ELECTED BY NORFOLK RAILWAY

Robert B. Claytor, president of Norfolk and Western Railway, was elected to the additional position of chief executive officer effective today. He succeeds John P. Fishwick, 64, who is retiring as chairman and chief executive officer at the end of this month.

Fishwick will remain a director of NW. Claytor, 59, has been president since last October; before then, he served as executive vice-president for 10 years. He began his career with NW in the law department in 1951 and rose to become vice-president of law in 1964.

ARRIVES IN GERMANY

Pvt. Victor L. Griffin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Wickham of 2804 Edgewood Avenue, Granite City, has arrived for duty at Baumholder, West Germany. Griffin was previously assigned at Fort Jackson, S.C.

He will talk on "Education and Television." L. William Fever, of Granite City, the president of the group and Mrs. Marguerite Concole, formerly of Madison, is the chairman for this meeting.

Demonstration on quilting

The Granite City Park District will offer a one-night demonstration of quilting on the sewing machine. Sherry Baker of the Singer Sewing Center will demonstrate on her machine the method of making various type quilt blocks. The completed blocks can be made into ruffled pillows, framed for hanging or sewn together and made into a quilt.

This should be a very interesting session to introduce the various things that can be done on your sewing machine at home. Many beautiful projects will be on display at the class which will be on Wednesday, Oct. 14 at the Nameoki Recreation Center from 7 to 9 p.m.

In order to attend the class, one must register in person, at the Wilson Park Office. The class is free. Park District residents will have priority.

This is one of the many special interest programs offered for adults during the fall and winter season.

LIFE STYLE SPEAKER

The next meeting of the Southern Illinois Divorced and Separated Catholics will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 6, at 7:30 p.m. at Eckhard Hall, St. Boniface parish, Edwardsville. Sister Grace of St. Christopher's in Florissant will speak on "Life Styles and Values in Today's World."

Legislation on paying legal fees

Governor James R. Thompson has recommended changes in a bill requiring defendants with court-appointed attorneys to pay attorney costs in certain instances.

"This provides a long-needed remedy to the problem of determining the degree of a defendant's indigency when the court names a counsel on the defendant's behalf," the governor said.

Under House Bill 46, when the court has determined the defendant's real ability to pay, it may order payment as partial or full reimbursement to the clerk of the court.

In addition, the payment may be ordered by the court to be made from any bond posted in the case, using the cash bond in whole or in part to meet the financial obligation.

The governor's changes of defendants and whether that bond should be used to satisfy lawyer costs.

The measure was returned to the legislature for consideration of the recommended changes.

New computer system increases performance, capacity at SIUE

A new computer system with greatly increased capacity and performance over the old system has been installed in the Data Processing and Computing Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Leon Daniel, director of the Center, said that without an increase in budget, the new system provides the capacity to support on-line administrative systems, including an on-line admissions, student records and registration system.

In addition, the increased capacity will provide better support for academic computing for research and instruction, Daniel said.

The new equipment is described as an IBM 4341-L1 computer system, replacing an IBM 370-145 computer system. The new processor contains four megabytes of memory compared to the single megabyte of memory on the old system. The 4341-L1 is capable of processing 88 million instructions per second (MIPS), while the 370-145 is limited to 36 MIPS.

Daniel explained further that using the Software Engineering Institute's standard for measuring computer processor performance, the 4341-L1 has a relative performance rating of 37 compared to 16 for the 370-145.

Daniel also explained that the new system is capable of expansion to a 4341 Model Group 2 processor which has an MIPS rating of 1.6 and a relative performance of 66.7. Memory can be expanded to eight megabytes on the 4341 Group 2 processor. He said this is sufficient expansion capability to allow Data Processing to project a useful life of five to seven years for the new system.

"The 4341 system provides additional benefits in that it requires one-third the floor space and one-quarter the power and air conditioning requirements of the 370-145," Daniel said. "This provides relief in the Data Processing computer room in both these areas."

Daniel continued: "A new disk system is planned for installation in the coming months. In addition to providing increased capacity, the new disk system is designed to match the increased speed of the processing unit. This upgrade will provide for better performance of on-line administrative and academic software."

"The impact of the change in the computing system is increased capacity and performance for the same budget dollars that were being spent on the 370-145 system. This reflects the improved price-performance ratio of IBM's 4300 series over the IBM 370 series of computing equipment and improved reliability of the new technology which results in lower maintenance and energy costs," Daniel concluded.

Limbs over alleys may lead to tickets

Residents who allow trees and trash to clog the alleys behind their homes will be subject to a citation from the city's inspection department, City Inspector Gerald Dawes warned Tuesday.

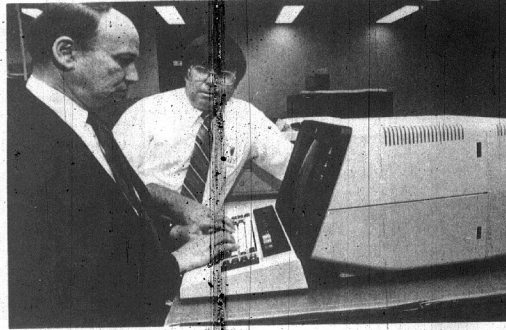

"It's to the point where I have been out trimming trees in alleys myself, but I can't begin to tackle the problem. The homeowners are going to have to help and I will issue citations to those who do not trim their own trees and keep their alleys clean," Dawes warned.

The inspector said that in the past, manpower employees of the sanitation department have been used to trim trees growing into the alleys and keep them open for trash collection, but the city now has lost its manpower employees and there is no one to do that work.

Milam East Division of SCA Services has warned the city that it will not collect garbage and trash any longer in alleys where the trucks may be damaged, due to past damage to the vehicles in Granite City.

"It's to the point where I have been out trimming trees in alleys myself, but I can't begin to tackle the problem. The homeowners are going to have to help and I will issue citations to those who do not trim their own trees and keep their alleys clean," Dawes warned.

BURGLAR GETS TOOLS
A burglar took numerous tools from the garage at the Joe Holder residence, 2853 Iowa St., during the past week, it was discovered Saturday.

NEW COMPUTER SYSTEM. President Earl Lazerson of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is one of the first to try the new computer system installed in the University's Data Processing and Computing Center. Leon Daniel (right), director of the Center, said the new system will provide greatly increased capacity and performance, including support for an on-line admissions, students records and registration system.

Conducts class at Georgia U.

Jolene Prewett, owner and operator of Super Hair, a Granite City hair styling salon, has returned from the University of Georgia at Athens, Ga., where she conducted a five-day course in the continuing education program.

Enrolled in the first-year class were 53 registered hairdressers from the states of Georgia, South Carolina and West Virginia.

The course will be offered on a continuing basis each summer for three consecutive years. Miss Prewett is a member of the Official Hair Fashioning Committee of the National Hairdressers Association and a registered teacher of beauty culture.

Age is changed in earnings test

Starting in 1983, the Social Security earnings test will not apply to persons 70 years of age and older. The present minimum age at which beneficiaries may receive their monthly payments without regard to earnings is 72.

Under the Social Security earnings test, beneficiaries who are under age 72 now have their benefits reduced when their income exceeds certain limits. If earnings exceed the exempt amount, benefits are reduced by $1 for every $2 of annual earnings above that amount.

For 1981, the exempt amount for people age 65 to 72 is $5,500. For 1982, the figure will be $6,000.

Only wages and net earnings from self-employment are considered in determining whether the earnings limitation has been exceeded. All such wages and earnings are taken into account, whether or not they are derived from Social Security employment.

Income that is neither wages nor earnings from self-employment does not count. This includes such items as interest income or dividends from investments and pension income.

A person may also receive income from a pension or an annuity without having his or her benefits reduced.

The rationale for including only income from work in applying the earnings test relates to the intent of the program. Social Security benefits are designed to help replace earnings lost because of retirement, serious disability, or the death of the worker.

The dependents of a retired worker who are receiving benefits, on the basis of the worker's earnings record are also affected by the earnings test. If the worker exceeds the earnings limitation, his or her dependents will have their benefits reduced even if they themselves have not exceeded the earnings limitation.

When the amount of the deduction is computed, all the family's benefits are added, and the reduction made in the total family benefit.

If a dependent exceeds the earnings limitation, that dependent's benefits will be reduced, but those of the other family members will not be affected.

Oppose listing county lawyer specialization

At a regular meeting of the Madison County Bar Association held in Collinsville on Sept. 24, a resolution was adopted expressing the association's opposition to listing of specializations in the telephone directory's yellow pages, when such specialization has not been adopted nor authorized by the Illinois State Bar Association.

The Madison County Bar voiced opposition to this form of classification of legal specialization until such classification has been reviewed and adopted or rejected by the Supreme Court of Illinois or the Illinois State Bar.

The group also voted to employ an attorney in Madison County to file a lawsuit against the company promoting sale of yellow page advertisements, seeking an injunction against the sale and future publication for specialization listings.

In comments made at the meeting by members of the Madison County Bar Association, concern was expressed for the impact of such listings.

"The major concern is that such listings will mislead the public into the belief that lawyers listing areas of practice have been certified as specialists in the areas listed," a spokesman said.

"Another concern is that sole practitioners and small law firms will feel the obligation to participate in paying the large listing fees in order to remain competitive with larger firms which really do not need such listings."

"The small law firms and sole practitioners will be financially strapped by the payment of these listing fees. The Madison County Bar previously resolved and directed that a notice be sent to all of its members expressing its opposition."

The resolution stated, "The Madison County Bar Association does protest the change of format in the yellow pages listing of attorneys and does recommend that its members, for their own protection, bear in mind that the change in format being instituted in the yellow pages has not been approved by the Illinois State Bar Association. Attorneys who are not members of the Madison County Bar and members of the public are being invited to submit their comments in writing to the county bar association through its president, Donald Smith, attorney, 401 Alton, Alton, Ill. 62002.

Amend limit on welfare payment of hospital care

Governor James R. Thompson announced Tuesday that he has made changes in legislation revamping the process by which public aid payments are made to Illinois hospitals, moves that he says will save the state more than $100 million.

"This bill, as enacted, followed intense negotiations involving the General Assembly, the administration and medical providers," Thompson said in his amendatory veto message to the legislature. "Most participants agree there were more desirable ways in which hospital spending could be contained" to stay within spending limits.

House Bill 811 provides an 8 percent spending cap on the rate of increase for reimbursements to hospitals.

It also outlines a 14 percent reduction in the number of inpatient days the Department of Public Aid will pay for.

Thompson, in recommending changes in the measure for legislative approval, added a provision that calls for the department and hospitals to "enter into an agreement that limits total payments to hospitals to 1981 levels, giving them more flexibility in meeting the $106 million in savings." The recommendations now go to the General Assembly.

THREE CARS DAMAGED ON MADISON AVENUE

Three southbound autos were damaged on Madison Avenue at 15th Street at 4 p.m. Monday. As Vivian Turner, 24, of 1221 Logan St., Venice, halted for traffic, the car of Terry Cathers, 27, of 1507 Market St., Madison, hit her auto and then the latter car was struck by the auto of Joseph Besseman, 17, of 54 Terry Drive.

A passenger in the first car, Adam Turner, 94, of 1221 Logan suffered minor injuries. Vivian Turner said she applied the brakes when a vehicle in front of her prepared to turn left.

ARREST AFTER CRASH
Alan Pereira, 28, of 65 Kaseberg Park was charged at 3 a.m. Tuesday with failing to give aid or information at the scene of a traffic mishap. A Madison County deputy sheriff brought him to the Granite City police building.

Twilight is quite possibly the most beautiful portion of each day. As the bright daytime sun slowly coalesces with the quiet of approaching night, a stillness pervades. It is a wonderful time to review the preceding day's events and attach value to each one. This time lends a perspective that the rush and business of daylight could not afford. This luminousness should carry forth to the night as a guide for those who follow, indeed, the waning hours of each day carry with them the light of each preceding hour.

Putting life into proper perspective oftentimes bears the most meaning as "the light fades." AT MERCER, THOMAS AND SEDLACK MORTUARIES we realize and appreciate the physical needs as well as the emotional considerations of the passing of loved ones. We offer professional services supported by empathy and consideration for the emotions and thoughts of the moment. Our staff, our facility and our service strives to provide the dignity and thoughtfulness so important at such a moment.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

Catholic women at convention

"Share the Light of Faith" was the theme of the 33rd annual convention of the Springfield Diocesan Council of Catholic Women, according to Mrs. Vada Krajnovich of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, delegate to the conference.

Mrs. Anna Loftus, Mrs. Mary Ann Bunk, Mrs. Irma Manning and Mrs. Ann Pare who are members of Madison and Granite area churches, also attended the meet.

Accentuating the theme, the keynote speaker, Mrs. Toni Bischoff of Columbus, Ohio, who is the first vice president of the National Council of Catholic Women, said: "Reaching out to others is a serious and challenging responsibility for all of us. The Council of Catholic Women affords us many opportunities to be actively involved in issues and concerns of our church and of our community. It is very important in our society of today to be informed and involved women."

The CCCW Convention was held at the Holiday Inn in Decatur, the weekend of Sept. 26 and 27. Some 400 women from 26 counties across Central Illinois making up the Diocese of Springfield, attended the convention.

Featured speaker at the closing banquet was Archbishop Edward T. O'Meara of Indianapolis, Ind., who was introduced by Bishop Joseph McNicholas of Springfield. Bishop O'Meara stressed the role of the laity in evangelization, pinpointing where the ladies of the Council could participate.

Father Frank Kodak, OFM, of St. Mary's, Madison, drove a group of ladies to Decatur for the closing banquet, Sunday. Those attending were Mrs. Mary Lahey, Mrs. Mary Krajnovich, and Mrs. Mary Golin. They joined the ladies who were already in attendance.

She displayed several large posters and commented on Mexican industry, costumes, dances, customs and various social activities.

Mrs. Forrest was assisted by Bea Brackett, who also related her experiences during a tour of Mexico and showed coins, straw bags, silver jewelry and alabaster and onyx figurines she had collected in that country.

Marilyn Lumpkins, president, and Carol Cathey will represent the chapter at the Missouri state convention, scheduled Oct. 23 through Oct. 25, it was announced.

A silver circle ritual ceremony honoring Betty Ebling will be conducted by Arlene Haldeman at the Oct. 14 business meeting, it was reported.

The Guild is a non-profit educational institution with headquarters in New York City and chapters in 50 states. It works to advance the cause of organ and choral music, to increase their contributions to aesthetic and religious experiences and to promote their understanding and enjoyment.

Members also give members a chance to discuss professional topics with each other.

Handicapped trade, information fair scheduled at SIUE on Nov. 4

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will hold a handicapped trade and information fair Wednesday, Nov. 4.

Sponsored by the Central Affirmative Action Office at the University, the fair will be held in the Goshen Lounge of the University Center from 9:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. All of the activities are free.

According to Coral Rice, coordinator of Handicapped Services at the University, the fair will feature the exhibition and demonstration of the latest advances in services, equipment, and informational materials for people with handicapping conditions and the elderly.

Professionals who work with the handicapped, people who have disabled members in their families or people who are likely to become disabled, as well as those with disabling conditions are encouraged to attend the fair.

Agencies and companies planning to exhibit at the fair include the department of Rehabilitation Services, Madison County Association for the Blind, Freedom Seekers, Illinois Job Service, National Multiple Sclerosis Society, Madison County Senior Citizen Services, and Paralyzed Veterans of America.

The Illinois Bell Telephone Company, Admiral Hospital Supply, Lewis and Clark Library System, Mobility Systems, Midwest Braille Volunteers, Florissant Valley Hearing Impaired Program, and Radio Information Service will also participate in the fair. Representatives from all the agencies and companies will be on hand to provide additional information and respond to questions.

Programming will include a presentation by Dr. Richard Umsted, superintendent of the Illinois School for the Visually Impaired in Jacksonville, Ill., in the Goshen Lounge at 11:30 a.m., followed by a performance by the Florissant Valley Theater of the deaf at 12:30 p.m.

Dr. Umsted's presentation will focus on heightening the public's awareness of people who have impaired vision. The Florissant Valley theater group will communicate to the audience through the use of mime and American Sign Language, as well as the spoken word.

A 20-minute film, "A Different Approach," is scheduled at 1:30 p.m. in the Maple Room of the Center. Using disabled individuals, along with well-known personalities of the screen, the film will examine problems faced by the disabled at home, at work, in social relationships, in business, and at school. Refreshments will be provided in the Hickory Room of the Center.

Coral Rice estimates that 200 to 300 disabled and elderly individuals will attend the fair. People needing transportation to and from the fair may contact Dickson Beall at 692-3246.

Additional information concerning the fair may be obtained by contacting Coral Rice in the SIUE Affirmative Action Office by telephoning (618) 692-2512.

Family memberships at 'Y' are increasing

Despite its name, the YMCA is increasingly becoming a family affair. So says Dave Fenrite, executive director of the Tri-City Area YMCA, in announcing the Y's new fall program.

"Across America, family Y memberships make up the fastest-growing segment of Y membership, accounting for nearly 25 percent of the total," Fenrite said.

"Reasons for the shift," he said, "are not hard to find. Nowadays, the Y offers programs for every member of the family... with the exception of the family pet."

Fenrite pointed to the Y's fall program schedule to prove his point. Activities range from programs tailor-made for parents and their children to programs for individual family members, he said.

For every age, there is a wide variety of fitness and sports activities — from aerobic dance classes for women to youth basketball leagues for elementary and Junior High students, to swim classes for all ages, and of course, lap swimming for fitness and fun.

For the younger set specifically, there are such activities as a Saturday racquetball league, swim team, YBA co-ed basketball for 8-12 year olds, indoor soccer and judo.

"The accent on the family has also led to far greater participation by women," Fenrite said, "leading to the designing of a growing number of programs to meet specific interests of women." An example of this is our swimastics exercise class, to make exercise easier by using the water to buoy up the body.

To obtain a copy of the Y's Fall schedule, persons may phone 876-7200 or drop by the Y at 2001 Edison Avenue, Granite City.

Gardening in October

By CHRIS DOLL, Extension Garden Adviser

Fall has arrived and October is the month to enjoy the weather and the fruits of the season. In 1981, this means beautiful apples, a good nut crop, and fresh fall vegetables from late gardens. The season has been early for perennial crops, and about normal for annuals. With this in mind, here are some suggestions for gardening this month:

- Dig sweet potatoes when they have reached good size and before a killing frost. Wait for the dry soil to make digging and curing job easier.
- Keep crops such as broccoli, tomatoes, peppers, squash, beans, etc. growing until frost by killing pests as needed. Cabbage worms and bean beetles are still major pests.
- Clean up the garden as crops are harvested and add the vegetative materials to the compost pile or plow them under.
- Collect a soil sample for testing if a new site is planned. The results of a soil test should be returned to you within a month as soil treatments can then be made this fall.
- Pumpkins and squash should be picked when mature. Leave the stem attached and store in a cool, dry room.
- Raspberry foliage should be green and healthy. Of your planting appears otherwise, resolve to follow a spray program for disease control next spring.
- Grape vines should also have green foliage at this time. Dry or dead leaves indicate low fertility, disease or insect infection. A good spray program during the summer is needed to keep the foliage healthy and give better yields of good fruit.
- Pick and store apples. The best storage is a refrigerator, but any cool storage with high relative humidity is good. Fruits may be wrapped in newspapers.

prior to storing in caves or buried sites, but placing in a plastic or poly bag in refrigerated storage works the best.

— Harvest nuts. They should be collected, cleaned, and dried, and then stored in a cool room. Walnuts cleaned before the hulls turn black will have better kernel color. If used for seed, the nuts may be planted in the ground this fall or else stored in moist sand or peat at cold temperatures over winter.

— Watch for mouse activity in fruit plantings and storage areas. If runways or chewing is seen, trap or poison them. If poisons are used, make protected feeding stations from tin cans or other devices that are not attractive to children or pets.

— Enjoy the fall color of blueberry and blackberry foliage. Study the possibility of blueberries as a dual purpose crop in the landscape plan.

— Dig up and pot a plant of parsley, thyme, rosemary, and other herbs for indoor growing for the winter. Harvest other herbs for drying.

— Be prepared to protect frost-sensitive crops in frosty nights. The average first freeze for WSW Illinois is October 25.

— Divide and plant rhubarb if a new planting is desired. This can also be done in the spring.

Enterprise zone concept worthwhile but limits needed

We usually are not in sympathy with government officials' tendency to "study to death" controversial legislative issues, through the formation of special exploratory commissions and "blue ribbon" panels and task forces. But an appropriate exception may be the current topic of "enterprise zones."

Among other comments he made in vetoing enterprise zone legislation, Senate Bill 819, Governor Thompson said he intends to appoint a commission to "begin immediate study of the entire concept, hold public hearings, and work closely with the bill's sponsors and the administration in Washington, D. C., to resolve the outstanding problems—and to recommend legislation that will permit the incentives that the concept promises, without the disincentives this particular draft contains."

As he noted, this is a matter of federal as well as state interest. Thompson said that "President Reagan is ready to propose a federal bill during October." Thompson said to anticipate his proposal with a flawed bill in Illinois, would do disservice both to the national administration and to the people of Illinois.

The basic idea of an enterprise zone is to encourage revitalization of central city districts and other areas, when such neighborhoods have become a burden to their community and lead to generate needed jobs, economic activity and tax revenue.

Because the "priming the pump" concept calls for alleviation of certain income, sales and property taxes in geographic areas declared to be enterprise zones by the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs, care must be taken lest the whole governmental tax base be undermined by the revitalization effort.

The bill just vetoed defined zones "in such a vague way as to be meaningless," Thompson found, nor did the measure mention limitations on the number or size of zones or state how long they would be in effect.

"A proliferation of zones would dilute the incentives," the governor reasons. "Secondly, the program should be geared toward the direct creation and expansion of industry and jobs for Illinois citizens. 'Bait and switch' grants to help business in the zone hire and train residents of the zone, nor are the tax incentives tied to new job creation or business start-up capital."

"It would block business firms' access to capital and their access to help with site acquisition, because it would prohibit any government subsidy, grant, guarantee or other assistance to any business located in an enterprise zone."

"It would adversely affect small firms, stifle a business, who can take any new conventional and government capital markets. For larger companies, its prohibitions would impede land use, clearance, construction, and infrastructure improvements."

So it will be back to the drawing board for Illinois planners, who can take any new federal activity in this field into account when they write new guidelines for state enterprise zone legislation.

It is by 1982 at the earliest before a new Illinois law can be considered. But the commission and legislators should move with some degree of urgency this fall and winter, because their task will be complex—and because the enterprise approach could be highly useful in reversing the present recessionary downturn.

Inadequate care of retarded, mentally ill in this state

Guest comment: by Steve Cullen, executive director, AFSCME-Illinois (American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees)—Local unions affiliated with AFSCME Council 31, Springfield, Ill., set up informational picket lines Monday at Illinois Department of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities facilities in Alton, Chicago, Galesburg, Jacksonville, Peoria, Centralia, Tinsley Park and Lincoln.

Their purpose was to call attention to a staffing and funding crisis which jeopardizes the quality of care at our state's mental health facilities.

The department is already down 1,400 employees due to the hiring freeze imposed by the governor last November. Most facilities are severely understaffed, resulting in a decline in the quality of care being provided to Illinois' retarded and mentally ill patients.

The problem is going to get much worse unless the state legislature acts to prevent an additional 500 layoffs scheduled for Nov. 1, 1981.

The other tragic result of the department's funding crisis is the acceleration of the "dumping" of the retarded and mentally ill into nursing homes, boarding houses, and other substandard facilities.

This "program," called de-institutionalization, has failed in Illinois and all across the country. Tens of thousands of patients are being neglected in some Illinois nursing homes.

Good intentions on the part of the Department of Mental Health, the General Assembly and the governor are not enough. Quality care requires adequate staffing and training, and this costs money.

State employees in the department's facilities are growing increasingly frustrated at short staffing, impossible workloads, excessive overtime, and the other ill effects of this crisis.

Illinois legislators must act this month to restore enough funds to prevent any further layoffs, and to begin to hire new staff to meet the most understaffed institutions. By doing this, they can also help prevent dumping of these patients into facilities that cannot meet their needs.

(A Life Magazine article on de-institutionalization is critical of the results nationwide.)

The Springfield Telegraph says the Nov. 1 layoffs are scheduled to occur in the northern part of the state; at Alton, the staff is being reduced through attrition as employees quit or retire.

Local union spokesman says prospects for an immediate supplemental appropriation are poor due to the tight state budget and the impact of further pay and benefit cuts, about 25 percent of the department's funds come from federal sources.

(Richard Dawdy, president of the Alton Local, says employees at the Alton Mental Health Center have been reduced from 515 a year and a half ago to about 415, and says some are working double shifts. Department records list 449 full-time-equivalency employees at the center, up six from the 443 at the start of the fiscal year July 1.)

Dawdy also notes a problem of female patients being injured by violent patients and having to go on sick leave, further depleting the available staff. He urges hiring of more male employees for security and wards where there are aggressive patients.

(Dr. Joseph Gruber, director, Region Four, Department of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities, says there is a need for more male staff members but that many men will not work for the salaries offered by the state and instead take better-paying jobs in private industry. He says that, due to conservative management, there have been no layoffs in this region, but that staff levels are insufficient to provide good care.)

Unjust criticism of office's staff

To the Editor:

The employees of the city treasurer's office would like to respond to the allegations made by Alderman Sharon Perjak.

First of all, when one makes such condemning accusations, especially in such a public manner, it is the utmost importance to make sure those facts are accurate and not half-truths.

In her haphazard reporting, she has done a great disservice not only to the public but to ourselves as well.

Mrs. Perjak "visited" our office at 1:30. Our office operates on a staggered lunch hour. This enables us to be open for business continually from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

We do not lock our door for a community lunch-social hour as some offices do downtown.

As it so happens, at 1:30 on that day, as every day, we

Disappointed at sports coverage for HS North

To the Editor:

You've noticed that there is another high school in Granite City besides South. It is Granite City North. The North Steelers deserve the same coverage that the South Warriors always receive.

The Steelers articles can sometimes be found between the mazes of pictures and articles about South.

Not having a great football team and it is a team effort not just one player, and justly deserves fair coverage. The players look forward for their team recognition and are very disappointed with the Press-Record coverage.

This complaint applies for all North High sports activities. We want more coverage but if that too much to ask, at least make it accurate.

To Mr. Roger Kaner, Granite City North are the Steelers and not the Warriors.

With a good complaint, Madison High School also has a football team and deserves fair coverage.

It is only a small voice, but it will get louder.

Council silent on tax contacts by people

To the Editor:

Under a new rule, any administration, present or future, can put more taxes on gasoline and groceries, increase the utility tax, and tax almost anything else they wish, without referendum.

I have been a property owner and taxpayer in Madison for over 32 years, and prior to that attended Madison High School. For the first time in those 32 years, I asked permission to speak at a City Council meeting, which the mayor refused.

His reason was that all I wanted to do was "raise a stink" in the newspapers.

However, with the help of my aldermen, I appeared at the meeting. I was told the mayor preferred to have the meeting, close the meeting, and then I would be permitted to speak.

Prior to my being recognized, he read a prepared statement trying to refute any objection I might state.

With the meeting being adjourned, there were no more of my objections. And insofar as the city minutes go, there were no objections.

This is the mayor who stated in his letter published Sept. 21 that he wanted the citizens' opinion, and on Sept. 24 he contacted him, the chief of police, or aldermen.

There were two letters from other citizens, asking that people contact their aldermen with regard to the utility tax.

I would presume those two citizens contacted theirs; I contacted mine. But at the Council meeting following, not one alderman mentioned

Many oppose new tax

To the Editor:

In Monday's Press-Record there was a letter from Mayor Mike Saykay complaining that his critics "continually criticized" instead of proposing "their plans" to improve the city's economy, with a positive attitude.

First, let me say that the criticism didn't start with the "major blum" that the mayor blames in his letter. After the utility tax first appeared on the citizens' electric bills, I was contacted by numbers of people, mostly senior citizens, who were angry that their already too high electric bills were made even higher by the Madison utility tax.

Most of these people had no previous idea that Madison was going to impose a utility tax.

My first thought was to sue the City of Madison to stop them from collecting the tax. I then learned that the city decided that the costs of such a lawsuit were too high, both for the taxpayers who filed the suit, and for the city, which would defend it.

It was decided that the place to solve the utility tax issue was in the same place where it started—in the political arena. We urged the citizens to contact their aldermen to repeal the utility tax.

We also are urging the people of Madison to vote "no" on the home rule election this November.

Making Madison a home rule city would make it even easier to impose even more taxes on the home rule city.

The anger with the administration didn't start with a "small group." We just pulled out a large number of citizens told us in private.

Negotiations to modify sales tax ordinance urged by auto dealers

To the Editor:

We'd like to project a few sobering thoughts to the Granite City Council members regarding the recently passed Supplementary city sales tax and its potential impact on the automobile business.

We are sure that the council members, as well as most Americans, are aware of the importance of the automobile industry to the nation's economy. We also feel certain that the members must know that local industry is a large supplier to the automotive trade, and that livelihoods of many Granite Cityans depend on the ultimate retail sales of vehicles.

We know that the mayor and the council agree that the four Granite City new car dealers will be the most harmed by the city tax. The price disadvantage that is inherent in this legislation will allow a local dealer to compete in the market.

When the mayor spoke of the wheel tax is off for only the month of January. If you do not get the tax off, it will cost you two and two-thirds percent more than it did last year.

The mayor believes that the multi-media and cable TV are such improvements; why, when he invests his money, does he invest it outside the City of Madison?

I am, on a fixed income, having had to retire because of disability.

However, my mind is not disabled and I cannot afford to write a blank check to the city. The sales tax is a burden to tax any amount and any item they choose.

If you lack the trouble to pay the amount of utility tax you are now paying on an annual basis—not allowing for any future increases in power, telephone, gas or water costs—you will find that most householders are paying approximately two percent more than they are now. The amount they paid for the city corporation tax on their property tax bill.

If the corporate tax is eliminated entirely, the utility charges will continue to go up, and we will be paying more and more to the city.

If home rule is passed, the five percent—limit will no longer apply, and I believe it could be raised to any percentage the administration so chooses.

If the home rule is passed, it would defeat home rule and maintain some control over our money is spent.

Lawsuit promise reverses Smith stand on county's sewer tap-ops

To the Editor:

I was a guest at the Sept. 21 meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and sewer drainage committee.

When I read the report on that meeting, I wondered if the meeting I had attended was the same one the article was referring to. The article stated that the sewer tap-ops were to be reversed, and that the city tax was to be reversed.

Since I have deep respect for the ability of the reporter, I could only conclude that perhaps he was not aware of the circumstances. The Assistant State's Attorney Marshall "Zeke" Smith had been invited, nor the stated intent of the committee issuing the invitation to Smith.

At the Aug. 17 committee meeting, I had been invited to present a brief report on the July petition drive.

I concluded that report with a name, the 24 Special Sewer Committee meeting in which Smith had fielded questions following the petition drive, and departure as committee chairman.

Smith explained the increase in the monthly sewer fee as the solution to the financial bind caused by residents not tapping onto the sewers in the utility area, and caused by the eight percent of those who had tapped on but who were not paying their sewer bills.

I asked why the county was not enforcing its own ordinances to ensure compliance—why it was not bringing a lawsuit provided by ordinance, to correct the situation, rather than overburdening the cooperative residents who had tapped on and were paying their bills. Why was the county requiring them to carry the responsibility of the non-compliers?

Smith's flat answer in June was, "I will not bring a lawsuit."

Now, after the petition drive, Smith has reversed his position. He kept repeating, "We need more users."

Near the end of the meeting, your reporter asked point blank, "Are you telling us to expect more increases?" Smith said, "No. The monthly fee might be reduced if the county's next negotiations with Granite City in two years, based on a 100-degree turnover rate from Granite City."

The newspaper article represented Smith as laying down the law—threatening. From my viewpoint, Smith's statements represented a 100-degree turnaround from his June 24 attitude.

I interpreted his antagonistic attitude, at times, as being self-directed. There must have been a certain degree of humiliation involved in his public reversal of his position.

I also viewed Smith's reply regarding no future raises in the monthly sewer fee as a ploy to win the sewer district would welcome. Nothing to this effect appeared in the news report.

The public is hungry to hear such news. I feel it has a right to read, in this letter, "another side of the coin."

(Editor's note: It is uncertain whether there will be "no future raises." The article mentioned many still-unsolved problems which were cited as clouding the Special Sewer Area's financial outlook. It quoted Smith's comment that the present $15.00 monthly fee is low, and that "the only thing that is going to save this rate is to get more people" connected to the sewer lines. (Mrs. Ray was active in the petition drive seeking having the monthly charge lowered. The petitions have been sent to the Illinois attorney general.)

Gun laws fail to curb crime rise

To the Editor:

A National Rifle Association analysis of the latest crime statistics published by the FBI reveals that those major metropolitan areas with strict gun laws lead the nation in their rates of violent crime.

Among cities whose populations exceed 500,000, Boston was listed as America's most violent town last year. The 1980 statistics also contained in the FBI's uniform crime reports released on Sept. 10, 1981, show Boston is following New York City, Baltimore, Washington, D.C., and Cleveland, all of which have extremely high gun laws.

Massachusetts, in 1975, adopted the Bartley-Fox Act, establishing a mandatory jail term for the unlicensed carrying of a firearm. In 1974, the year before Bartley-Fox took effect, Boston had 1,000 gun-related violent crime. It now ranks first.

New York, which passed its strict gun laws in 1968, has become America's second most violent city since the law took effect. New York's violent crime rate in 1979 was 10.2 per 100,000, down from 11.4 in 1978.

New York City also leads the nation in armed robberies with 1,429.2 per 100,000 population, more than 100 thousand last year.

Baltimore, with stringent gun licensing and registration requirements, saw a 19 percent increase in its rate of robbery last year over 1980.

And Washington, where private ownership of handguns was banned in 1977, moved from eighth place in overall violent crime before the handgun ban to fourth place in 1980.

Since the District of Columbia enacted its handgun ban, its murder rate has risen 17 percent, according to the FBI's data. In nearby Virginia, where there are relatively few restrictions on gun ownership other than those imposed by federal law, the murder rate dropped nine percent.

The statistics show that, overall, the United States' murder rate has fluctuated in recent years. It fell from 9.8 per 100,000 in 1974 to 8.8 in 1976 and 1977. Then it increased to 9.7 in 1979 and rose again to 10.2 in 1980.

Need state action soon on women's rights

To the Editor:

The National Federation of Business and Professional Women endorsed ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment to the United States Constitution in 1957 at the national convention.

The current amendment has 24 words: "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, or by any state on account of sex."

Poll after poll shows a 61 percent majority of Americans favors the Equal Rights Amendment. Only 32 percent oppose it.

By two to one, Americans are for equality and justice under the law.

As Business and Professional Women, we know perfectly well the wage gap between men and women. For every dollar men earn, women earn 57 cents.

This is the national average. However, in Illinois, women earn 57 cents to the dollar, and in the St. Louis metropolitan area it's even lower — 54 cents for every dollar men earn, based on U.S. Department of Labor statistics.

In these days when two salaries are needed to make ends meet, families are having to make do on one and a half salaries, who profits from paying women little more than half as much as men are paid? You may find the real answer to who opposed equality.

Only ten months remain to ratify the Equal Rights Amendment. Three more states are needed to make it part of the United States Constitution. Illinois and Missouri are two of those states.

What will America say to its citizens and the world? That women are entitled to the full benefits of citizenship or that, in fact, it is okay to discriminate on the basis of sex?

Let's join the majority of Americans who pray for justice. Let your state senators and representatives hear your voice.

News notes

Governor James R. Thompson has signed two new laws expected to nearly double state aid for driver education. One raises the cost of driver instruction permits from $8 to $20, with $16 going into driver education funds distributed to public schools. The other law creates an additional penalty of $5 for each vehicle code violation fine of $40.

Federal court action is being awaited on changing the 24 Illinois Congressional districts into 22. For the creation of 118 single-member state legislative districts to replace the present 59 three-member districts, a nine-member commission (five Democrats and four Republicans) is to complete new maps by Monday, Oct. 5.

A color guard posted the colors of 1803, two buxins-clad men beached canoes near the confluence of the Mississippi and Missouri rivers and Indian drums were heard in the distance as the circular Lewis and Clark exploration monument in the park north of Mitchell was dedicated in ceremonies this week. Ray Arnet, assistant interior secretary, said 11 state committees and two Lewis and Clark groups promoted creation of the park and construction of the monument.

The Illinois Transportation Improvement Council is proposing that Illinois vehicle license fees be more than doubled and that gasoline taxes be raised by 50 percent, from 7 1/2 to 12 cents a gallon, to help finance highway maintenance work. Presently, auto license fees are $18 for small cars and $30 for autos with large engines.

Congressional action was completed Tuesday on a bill increasing the national debt limit to more than $1 trillion.

Madison County governmental budget requests for the December 1981 to November 1982 total $13 million, up 22 percent over 1980. They are to be trimmed to $11 1/2 million to stay within anticipated income.

Initiative plan could reduce taxes

To the Editor:

The arrival of property tax bills underlines the need for a constitutional amendment to give Illinois taxpayers the right to cut property taxes directly by citizen referendum, like Proposition 13 in California.

The Coalition for Political Honesty is currently campaigning for the Illinois Initiative Amendment to permit voters to petition for binding a statewide referendum on subjects such as property tax relief.

Illinois voters should have a direct ballot option to reduce unfair property taxes, assessments and multipliers.

According to the Department of Revenue, the property tax bill of the average Illinois homeowner has doubled in the last 10 years.

Last year, Illinois residents paid $4 billion in property taxes, more than any other levy but the federal income tax.

Almost everyone agrees that the present property tax system is so confusing and manipulated by so many interests — assessors, administrators, city, county and school officials — that accountability for the total tax bill is impossible.

By adopting the Illinois Initiative, millions of taxpayers in our state would have a concrete way to enact meaningful property tax control and overhaul the entire system.

Property tax reform is too important an issue to be left just to politicians. If you're fed up with skyrocketing property taxes levied through a system that defies logic, contact the Coalition at P.O. Box 708, Oak Park 60303, or at 312-524-1978 and pass an initiative petition.

Remember people on low income

To the Editor:

If the City Council had paid attention to the city treasurer's report, the financial crisis could have been avoided.

Several months ago, he told them what would happen if they didn't cut the budget.

The mayor said, "pencil pushers" scare easy.

Some members of the City Council want to hire a comptroller for $30,000, the city needs that money much more than a comptroller.

A new sales tax will hurt a lot of people. Innocent people will be paying for mistakes made by others.

Senior citizens, low-income persons and unemployed people would be spared if the tax was put on liquor, food and beverages consumed in restaurants. They tend to eat and drink liquor.

They have to live within their budget. If they had a financial crisis, they could levy a tax for others to bail them out.

Steelworkers back UW

To the Editor:

For over 30 years, organized labor has played a major role in helping the United Way of America develop its program of aiding people in need through voluntary action. Union members have shown their commitment to helping others through payroll deductions and contributions of their time and talents to United Way agencies. I can proudly say that, as Steelworkers, we have always done our share.

As you know, a critical part of the United Way's program is its annual fundraising campaign. This year, as in the past, the USWA will be fully endorsing this effort. In addition to urging full participation in this year's campaign, I urge each local union to build on the partnership that exists between organized labor and the United Way. By doing this, we will not only be helping the United Way, but we will be helping our members take advantage of what the more than 3,000 local United Way organizations offer communities throughout the country.

2 homes looted; girl, 16, caught

Rapid response by police enabled them to recover a camera, binoculars and purse at 2:30 a.m. Wednesday. Taken from the home of Clarence Buster, 1312 Edwardsville road, the items were located in the back yard there.

Entry to the home was gained through a back door.

A girl, 16 years old, taken into custody by the police as part of their burglary investigation, was being held in the yard by Buster and his wife, Dorothy, when officers arrived.

The family said she had been inside their home and ran out when they awoke.

She denied going indoors and said she was waiting for a friend, 23, six feet tall with medium build, who had told her he was going to visit relatives inside.

The man described by the juvenile had a German accent and dark hair that reached to the middle of his back. He left in a light blue 1981 auto, she said.

A burglary discovered at 2:30 a.m. Wednesday at the Craig Tarpoiff residence, 1418 Edwardsville Road, also is being investigated.

Missing there are a $2,000 video recorder and video camera, a $1,000 tuner and amplifier with speaker, a $200 color television set, a camera and a slide projector.

A missing television antenna was found halfway between the home and the Tarpoiff meat processing plant.

The residence was entered by breaking a window.

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals will hold two on-site public hearings Monday in Quad-City area townships.

The first hearing will be at 9 a.m. Monday at 3301 Princeton, where Gail Street is requesting a special use permit to continue the placement of a mobile home on this site. Her previous permit has expired. The property is zoned R-4 for single-family residential use and is in Nameoki Township.

At 9:30 a.m. Monday, the board will meet adjacent to 5200 Lakeview Drive, near Tank Town, in Chouteau Township, where Harry and Donna Beth Laughlin are requesting a special use permit to continue the placement of a mobile home for as long as possible. The property is zoned R-3 for single-family residential use.

The open house in which visitors may view the department's equipment and facility will start at 10 a.m. and continue until 5 p.m. Refreshments will be served by the firemen.

BOOKED ON WARRANTS

John A. Mayfield, 25, of 2015 E. 23rd St. was taken into custody in Granite City at 2:20 p.m. Monday after warrants issued earlier this week charging deceptive practice. Associate Judge Thomas Hildebrand at a hearing Tuesday night set the bond at $2,500 cash. He was held pending transfer to county custody.

VAN, AUTO COLLIDE

As Roy Stricker, 1325 Meridian St., slowed his northbound van to make a left turn in the 2200 block of Madison Avenue at 5:40 p.m. Tuesday, it was struck in the rear by the front of the auto of Mickey Topley, 47, of 2509 Madison Ave. Mallya Topley, 19, of 2509 Madison, a passenger in the car, suffered injuries.

ALL-STAR LIGHTS TAKEN

James Lee Murphy, 18, of 2224 Madison Ave., charged with theft at 7 p.m. Monday, was released on $202 bail at 8:45 p.m. It was alleged that while he was working at Panera's Pizza, 1535 Johnson Road, on July 31, three quartz lights mounted on the building were taken and two carriage lights on the front of the restaurant were damaged. Total value of the lights was estimated at $500.

Cards drop two

ST. LOUIS (SLWN) — The St. Louis football Cardinals today released two players from their roster in anticipation of activating two veterans from the injured reserve list. It was announced by Larry Wilson, Director of Pro Personnel.

Released were wide receivers John Floyd and Mike Fisher. Floyd, a three-year veteran from Northeast Louisiana, was claimed on waivers by the Big Red of Washington on Sept. 1. He played in the first four games, catching three passes for 32 yards. Fisher was an eighth-round draft choice of the Cardinals this year out of Baylor. He was released by the club on Sept. 1 when the roster was reduced to 45, and was re-signed on Sept. 9. He was on the roster for three games and played in two. He did not catch any passes.

It is hoped wide receiver Mel Gray and tight end Doug Marsh will be able to be activated later in the week to restore the roster to 45 players. Both players would be taken off the Injured Reserve List without being subjected to waivers.

Head coach Jim Hanifan indicated that both players would be evaluated in practice Wednesday and Thursday to ensure they had recovered from injuries. Gray separated his shoulder on Aug. 4 in training camp.

North's DePew has put the 'foot' back in football

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY: Roy Green's got nothing on Daren DePew.

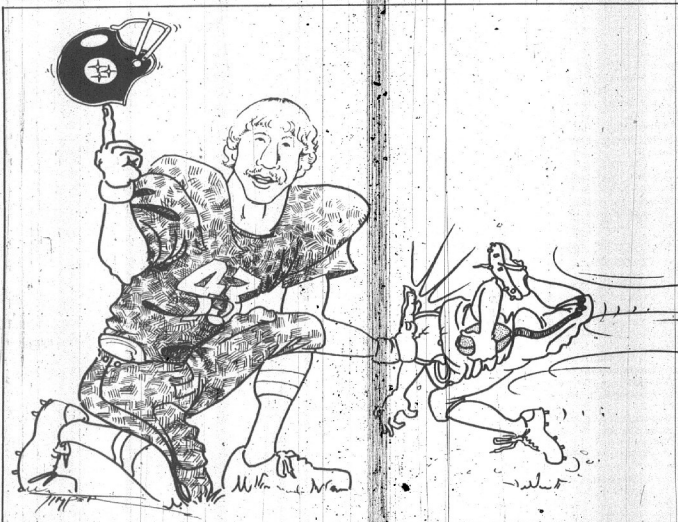

Green is the St. Louis football Cardinal who has gained national recognition for playing both offense and defense for the Big Red this season. But that's nothing to Granite City North's Daren DePew.

DePew, a junior, has done it all this far this season for the 2-1 Steamers, including kicking a state-record 54-yard field goal last week against Wood River in his team's 28-0 victory. DePew knew it was a school record right after the game, but some checking with the Illinois High School Association revealed it was indeed the longest field goal ever kicked by an Illinois prepster. "I was pretty excited when I heard about it," said DePew. "But really, winning the game is more important."

DePew is indeed a jack-of-all-trades. Besides being four-for-four in field goal attempts this season, he also has played running back, quarterback and linebacker. In addition to handling the Steamers' punting chores. In fact, he's thrown a touchdown pass and intercepted a pass.

"I like playing running back best of all," he said. "But I'll do whatever Coach (Tom) Wyrostek tells me to do."

What Wyrostek tells him team to do must be working. After going 7-1 last season and falling just short of an all-time berth in the State Playoffs, the Steamers appear to be in good shape for a run at the Gateway East championship this season. After losing their first game of the season 23-0 to Roxana, they have shut out both Collinsville (17-0) and then-unbeaten Wood River.

According to DePew, this Friday's game against Belleville A-Hoff, defending GEC and State 4A champion, is "the big one."

"This game is it," he said. "If we beat A-Hoff, I think we've got a real good shot at winning the conference. But they're all big games. We haven't started our conference season yet. Edwardsville is supposed to be pretty tough too."

Perhaps an over-used word in sports lingo. But it describes DePew. Besides being an almost showman for All-Conference honors in football, he's known as perhaps the best catcher for prep baseball in this area. In fact, he's already had feelers from big-time college scouts as a junior.

"I really like playing baseball better," said DePew. "I really don't know why, maybe because I'm better at it than I am at football."

"I'd like to play baseball and maybe football too in college," he said. "But right now, it's too early to think about it much. There's plenty of time for that."

How did a 6-1 running back-linebacker turn into one of the best placekickers in the state? "I've been kicking since junior high," he said. "I kicked my first one for Grigsby (junior high) in the eighth grade to beat Fraher."

"I played soccer up until the time I went into the eighth grade. It just sort of came naturally, I guess."

Unlike most college and professional placekickers, DePew isn't one to shy away from physical contact. "I like hitting people," he said. "Maybe that's one reason I like playing linebacker and being a catcher on the baseball team." Just ask any baserunner who's been tagged out by DePew sliding into home plate. Most of the time, he's stagger back to the dugout trying to shake the legs from their eyes.

DePew likes North's chances this season. "We're pretty serious about what we have to do," he said. "We clown around and get along fine. But out on the field, it's business."

Against Roxana we weren't ready. We didn't play like a team. We played like individuals. But that's changed now. We're definitely a team."

By the way, area preppers won't get a break from DePew this winter, either. He also plays basketball.

South has it easy...

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY: Things may be finally starting to fall into place for Granite City South's soccer team. Not that things were going that poorly before, but with Monday night's 8-0 shellacking of Gateway East Conference rival Cahokia at The Gauntlet the Warriors (10-1-1) seemed to turn the corner.

"I was really expecting a tougher game," said South coach Gene Baker. "But we really controlled the flow early. We got to use a lot of players."

"I didn't want to run up the score, either. But when you send a substitute into the game, you can't really tell him not to score. It's not fair to him or to the program."

Score is exactly what the Warriors' substitutes did. In fact, only two of the goals were scored by starters. The subs got to see that much action.

The easy victory came as somewhat of a surprise to Baker. "I thought Cahokia would be a little tougher," he said. "But we'll have to be at our best when we play them at their place (Oct. 15)."

If you like to compare scores, consider this: South whipped Cahokia, which beat Quincy, which beat Quincy Notre Dame, which beat Granite City North. Or this: South whipped Cahokia, which lost to Alton Marquette and Lebanon.

Which Cahokia team played in Granite City Monday? The one that came from behind to defeat Quincy, or the one that lost to Alton Marquette. After all, Marquette, even though a phenomenal story with a 28-3 record in just two years of varsity soccer, is no Quincy.

"That's why I thought the game would be tougher," he said. "Because we just beat Quincy (2-1 last Saturday)."

"But our boys played well. We're been making progress."

South had a 3-0 lead at halftime. It could have easily been much more. Fritz Brewer opened the scoring with a goal at the 19:23 mark of the first quarter off an assist from teammate Timmy O'Toole. That was the only goal of the first quarter.

In the second quarter, the substitutes started taking over for South. First it was Barry Grote, who scored the first of two goals off an assist from Scott Vickers at 14:01. Then Timmy Paz scored from Greg White and Vickers at 6:19.

There was no scoring in the third quarter, but South made up for it in the fourth. White, a three-year starter, made it 3-0 at 13:00 when he boomed a direct kick from about 35 yards out. Then he assisted sub Phil Harzall at 12:42 to make it 4-0.

Harzall scored his second goal of the night at 9:12 after taking a pass from Dave Modrusic.

Harzall racked up his fourth point of the game at 8:24 when he assisted Jim Crews on a goal that made it 7-0.

Grote rounded out the scoring for South when he took a pass from teammate John Menendez at 2:07 and kicked it into the net from about 10 yards out.

"Cahokia's not really that bad a team," said Baker. "We were just playing very well. I think they may have gotten down late in the game and sort of given up."

South had a 29-2 edge in shots and an 8-1 edge in corner kicks. Warrior goalie Joe LeMaster made one save to Cahokia's 13. South was 27 for 27.

NOTES: South's next action will be at Granite City North Thursday afternoon. The two highly-ranked teams (South is ranked first in the state as well as in the area. North is ranked fifth in the state and second in the area) battled to a scoreless tie in their first meeting of the season three weeks ago at The Gauntlet.

... and so does North

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY: Evidently, the Granite City North soccer team is full of good listeners.

After head coach Bob Kehoe burned their ears here Monday, the Steamers went out and demolished Edwardsville 6-0 in a Gateway East Conference game at Steeler Field.

What Kehoe burned their ears about was their performance last Saturday at Quincy Notre Dame that saw the Steamers lose their first game of the season 2-0. "They played 100 percent better," said Kehoe. "They knew what they had to do and they did it."

Edwardsville's Tigers were never in the game, much to the dismay of head coach Bruno Gwardys.

North exploded for four goals in the third quarter to break open the game and put it out of reach.

After the first quarter goal by Paul Barrington (assist to Brian Pickens), the Steamers scored their four goals in the period within a six-minute span. Eric Maass started things off when he drilled in an unassisted goal after the ball rebounded off the defense.

Then Benny Nolan took a pass from teammate Dave Shleik and sent home a 15-yard goal along the ground and past a sprawling Edwardsville goalie.

At the 4:27 mark, Mike Macko took an assist from Nolan and touched the ball into the net from about four yards out for a 4-0 lead.

North final goal of the third period came at the 3:09 mark when Kendall Whittington scored unassisted. He took the ball in North's half of the field, brought it all the way down and sideliined and drilled it in to make it 5-0.

North's last goal was scored at 17:44 of the fourth quarter when Nolan took a pass from Keith Glasco and boomed the ball in from about 22 yards out.

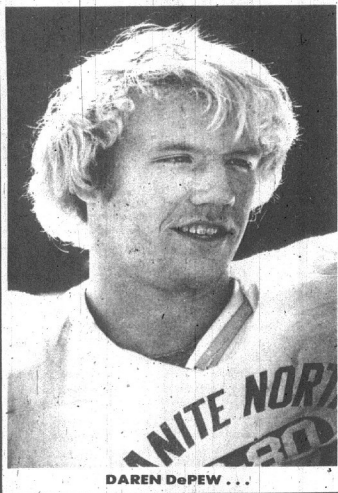

Edwardsville coach Bruno Gwardys thinks Thursday's Gateway East showdown between North and rival Granite City South is nearly a tossup. "For the first time, I might be leaning toward North," said Gwardys. "They're very, very good."

Gwardys said he felt the turning point of his team's game with the Steamers was when Tiger sweeper back Mike Bradley was injured and forced to leave the game after colliding with a teammate when both went up for a head ball. Until then, he said he felt his team had played the Steamers nearly even. "Mike will be OK," said Gwardys. "He was just shaken up."

But with him out of there, they (North) found out where our weakness was and moved the ball very well."

North coach Kehoe said he felt his team had turned its lackluster performance last Saturday at Quincy Notre Dame. "Especially in the second half," he said. "We looked very good, I thought. We played the ball around and passed fairly well. Plus,

Cougars ready for Cup series

EDWARDSVILLE — Fresh from giving second-ranked Indiana University a tough game, the soccer Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will travel to Charleston, Friday to put their Illinois Governor's Cup Championship on the line. The tournament, a two-day event matching Illinois' best soccer teams, will feature SIUE against Western Illinois University (WIU) (4-1), a p.m., and nationally-ranked Eastern Illinois University (EIU) against Northern Illinois University (NIU) beginning at 3 p.m.

The Cougars, who were ranked 11th in the latest poll of NCAA Division I soccer teams, won the Governor's Cup championship last year by defeating Northern, 4-0, and Eastern, 3-0. To retain the bragging rights to Illinois soccer, the Cougars will first have to hand WIU its first loss of the season. The Leathernecks, scheduled to battle McMurray College, Tuesday, were sporting a 5-0 record. WIU has posted impressive victories over Northeast Missouri State University (4-1), Marquette University (4-0), Roosevelt University (3-0) and Quincy College (3-0), all while allowing just one goal.

EIU, which lost its first game of the year last Saturday, will enter the Governor's Cup with a 5-1 record. The Panthers dropped a 5-1 decision to the defending NAIA champions from Quincy College. NIU, Eastern's opponent in the first round, is currently sporting a 2-3 record.

The Cougars, who tried to fool the national rankings board, almost pulled off an upset victory Sunday in Bloomington, Ind. but a pair of penalty kick goals by Armando Betancourt pushed the second-ranked Hoosiers to a 3-2 victory. The Cougars, trailing 2-0, got on the board at the 61:01 mark when Dan Malloy headed a Pat Malloy throw-in into the nets. Three minutes later, at the 63:54 mark, Steve Gauvain tied the game at 2-2 when he headed in a Tom Broack free kick. Pat McGahey tied the game for IU as he knocked in a corner kick at the 70:45 mark to give IU a 6-1 record and push the Cougars' record to 5-2.

On a weekend when most students at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville are about to enjoy their first weekend back on campus, the Cougar athletic teams are heading to all points of the map. A travel agent's delight, SIUE will be represented in South Bend, Ind., Charleston, Ill., Clemson, S.C., Decatur, Ill.,

DeKalb, Ill., and Saul Valley, Mich. between Friday (Oct. 2) and Monday (Oct. 5).

The Cougars' cross country team gets the action underway Friday as they compete in the prestigious Notre Dame Invitational, scheduled to begin at 3:30 p.m. The SIUE soccer team will make its annual trip to the Governor's Cup Championship Tournament, at Charleston this year, to put its five-year reign of Illinois soccer on the line. The Cougars will face Western Illinois University, boasting a 5-0 record this season, at 1 p.m. Friday and will play again Saturday.

DeRousse making impact on Eastern's program

RANDY DEROUSSE

By TERESA GULL

GRANITE CITY — Randy DeRousse has been drafted throughout his soccer playing career.

DeRousse, a 1980 graduate of Granite City South, has always played on winning soccer squads.

He was a member of the 1977, 1978 and 1979 state championship teams for South The New York Cosmos thought he was good enough to be drafted in the first round of the 1980 North American League Soccer draft.

He didn't make the Cosmos, but he did receive a scholarship to play soccer for Eastern Illinois University at Charleston — a university which has a winning soccer tradition. A university which is undefeated and unscathed upon in six games so far this year.

A university which is rated as the No. 4 Division I soccer team in the nation in the latest ISSA Budweiser Weekly Booter Poll.

DeRousse, the starting left fullback for Eastern, has been instrumental in the scoreless string for Eastern's opponents. But DeRousse has added another aspect to his soccer playing skills — an aggressive scoring attack.

"Really, on defense the first priority is to defend," DeRousse said. "But in college, they're looking more for two-way players. It (offense) is what I've been working on the most."

DeRousse has scored a goal this year, something he would have never dreamed of doing before.

"It was in a tournament out in Colorado in the championship game," DeRousse said. "We won 6-0, so it wasn't as exciting as scoring a 1-0 victory goal."

According to Schellars Hyndman, head coach for Eastern, DeRousse's ineptness in participating in the offensive attack and his epitome in picking up silly fouls prevented him from starting for the entire season last year. This year, however, he has the problems conquered.

"He's coming through with aggressive, attacking techniques," Hyndman said. "He's still a major defender for us but he's become a part of our offensive attack too. He's got the speed and quickness to stay up with the team."

And DeRousse has kept his aggressive playing style but has learned how to control it to prevent the officials from flashing the yellow cards at him.

"I did get a yellow card against Quincy, but so did six or seven other guys," DeRousse admitted. "It's just a form of learning not to get them during the game."

"You learn as you get older and you play more. I've learned a lot from that standpoint."

As a sophomore, DeRousse is the youngest starter on the Eastern squad, but Hyndman said his youth is not evident on the field.

"In the Quincy game, he was doing positive things under pressure," Hyndman said. "He takes pressure well as far as his mental attitude. He thinks his way through instead of instinctively playing."

DeRousse said he didn't feel any pressure from his college teammates to be a superstar player because he was drafted by the Cosmos right out of high school.

"They're just as good as players here," DeRousse said. "Their potential is the same."

Hyndman feels fortunate that the Cosmos released DeRousse, not only for the team's benefit but for DeRousse's benefit.

"He'll play this year compared to last year in college is much better," Hyndman said. "He'll definitely be drafted again but he'll be a much stronger player. He'll be able to play defensively and go into the offensive attack."

DeRousse isn't thinking about the pros right now. He wants to add the NCAA Division I soccer title to the other championships he has received.

"I think the team has the possible potential for a championship team," DeRousse said. "If we get a bid, you can never tell what happens in the playoffs."

And if DeRousse has his way, he'll be able to claim being a national collegiate soccer champion as well as a three-time Illinois soccer champion.

After all, he's used to having his own way — the winning way.

Marquette gets forfeit victory

ALTON — Because of a scheduling conflict, Alton Marquette's football team has been awarded a forfeit victory over McLeansboro for the game that was set to be played this Saturday.

Marquette received notification from the Illinois High School Association Monday afternoon. With the "victory," Marquette's record is now 4-0.

McLeansboro's Foxes had a valid contract with Marquette for Oct. 3. However, they also scheduled a game with Chaffee, Mo. on the same date. They stated they would rather play the game with Chaffee than Marquette.

"I have mixed emotions about it," said Marquette coach John Rogers. "We wanted to play."

North

we got a chance to take a look at some younger players who will be pretty strong for us in years to come."

The Steelers outshot the Tigers 17-5 (Edwardsville's shot chart had it 23-4). The dominance by the Steelers is further evidenced by their 2-3 edge in corner kicks. North committed 20 fouls to Edwardsville's 2.

In goal, North's Jeff Sharp was forced to make only two saves, but one was a beauty. He managed to deflect a hard shot by Edwardsville's Brian Pouch wide of the goal.

Edwardsville's only other chance at scoring was a header by John Edmonds that sailed over the crossbar. Kehoe said Thursday's North-South battle would most likely decide the Gateway East Conference championship.

Governor signs bill to hike inheritance tax exemptions

Governor James R. Thompson has announced he has approved legislation that increases the exemption from the Illinois inheritance tax by $20,000, raising it to $60,000.

"Two often in today's price-inflated world spouses and relatives have no other choice but to sell cherished family belongings to be able to pay inheritance taxes," Thompson said. "No one should be faced with that kind of alternative during a period as difficult as the loss of a loved one."

House Bill 725 increases the exemption for a surviving spouse by hiking the basic exemption from $40,000 to $60,000.

The measure also permits institutions to transfer the decedent's assets worth $15,000 or less without withholding any inheritance taxes that may be due. The Illinois Attorney General's office must be notified of the transfer by the institution rather than the surviving spouse.

The bill also contains technical changes which remove outdated reporting and record-keeping procedures.

The legislation was co-sponsored in the House by Representatives Steve Miller of Danville and Edmund Kornowicz of Chicago, and in the Senate by Senators Max Coffey of Charleston and Leroy Lemke of Chicago.

In other action, the governor recommended changes in House Bill 1636, a bill that prohibits revealing the names of state employees who "blow the whistle" on alleged fraud and mismanagement in state government.

Thompson removed a portion of the bill that asks that the state pay for periodic imprisonment costs in county or city institutions.

"While I am in general agreement with the purposes and objectives of this bill... I believe that the bill creates an administrative procedure far in excess to that which is necessary to provide the basic tenets of this legislation," Thompson said.

"The basic purpose of this bill, the protection of an employee who blows the whistle on some wrongdoing, seems to have been lost in the legislation," he said.

The governor removed a provision of the bill that calls for the Civil Service Commission to investigate charges of misconduct in state government. Thompson said that the Division of Internal Investigation of the Department of Law Enforcement is well trained to handle misconduct probes.

The bill was sponsored by Representative Aaron Jaffe of Skokie, and Senator Timothy Degan of Chicago. The governor also amendatorily vetoed House Bill 542, a measure that orders prisoners to pay as much as they can for the cost of keeping them behind bars.

Word processing sessions set

A Word Processing Seminar to introduce the basic process and its equipment to the professionals who will use it is scheduled Oct. 6-7 at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The two-day session, developed for managers and secretaries, is the first of a series of three October seminars on the modern office, sponsored by the Center for Management Studies in the School of Business.

A session in management for secretaries, clerical and staff personnel is scheduled Oct. 14-15, and a final seminar to examine office automation and technology is Oct. 20-22.

All three seminars are taught by Robert A. Scholtz, STUE business education professor with expertise in administrative services. He is an author and lecturer on office work equipment and has directed similar seminars for the U.S. Civil Service. He is also a member of the St. Louis Chapter of the Administrative Management Society and a former member of the board. Seminar subjects include the history and future of word processing in the business office, an update on the equipment, and ways to use the process to increase production and control quality.

The workshop meets at 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. daily in Building III, Room 3335, on the Edwardsville campus. Tax deductible fees, including luncheons and all meeting materials, are $225. For additional information or to complete registration, interested persons may contact Barbara Woods at 692-2668.

Matthew 7:7... "Ask, and it shall be given you."

God is only a prayer away. When we have a need all we have to do is pray. God hears and answers prayer. Bear in mind that God wants to help you. It is his good pleasure to give unto us his kingdom.

Never allow yourself to believe your prayers aren't important. God is a God of love. He cares and He understands. We can find help in time of our need if we will only pray.

Let us have faith when we ask. He knows the things we have need of. Trust God with your life. He can do much better with it than we can.

Convince yourself that God's answer is wiser than our prayers. Believe He is giving what is best for you. Ask Him. Today.

Illinois first state to make loans to university students

Governor James R. Thompson has signed landmark legislation, making Illinois the first state in the nation to set up an authority to provide loans to private college and university students who come from middle-class families.

"This legislation provides an innovative financing method for student loans without the commitment of state funds," Thompson said. "As the cost of private education climbs higher, middle-class families are faced with taking on more of the burden of sending their children to school. This bill will help relieve some of the financial pressure on this large portion of our population."

"We still provide up to $2,500 in Illinois Guaranteed Student Loans for those families earning $30,000 or less and I recently signed legislation that will allow parents to borrow up to $3,000 per student through a Parent Loan Program," he said.

Under House Bill 1439, an Illinois Independent Higher Education Loan Authority would be established. It would have the power to issue tax-exempt revenue bonds with the proceeds going to higher education institutions in the form of loans. The institutions then would make low-interest loans to students and/or parents of students.

The amount parents and students combined may borrow from the authority is restricted to college cost minus other state, federal and institutional grants and loans. Interest rates on the loans would be set by the authority.

The bill was sponsored by Representatives Mary Hallstrom, Evanston and Lee Preston, Chicago.

In other action: The governor recommended changes in House Bill 239, which makes the death of a child where death was exceptionally brutal or "indicative of wanton cruelty" a capital offense.

To be consistent with other legislation he has signed concerning extended sentences for brutal or heinous behavior, the Governor recommended that the age factor be lowered from 16 years to 12.

He also made other changes to correct weaknesses in the state's felony-murder statute brought out by state Supreme Court rulings. This changes involve current language that requires that a murder occur during the exact time frame that a second felony is being committed in order for the person to be eligible for the electric chair.

The governor's recommendations now return to the General Assembly. He recommended changes in Senate Bill 1168. That measure establishes the High Rise Fire Commission and gives peace officer status to fire investigators at the state and local level.

While approving those sections, he deleted a portion of the bill that would create requests for scarce state resources and changed another section to correct a technical error. Those changes return to the Legislature.

He signed Senate Bill 731, which creates the "Cycle Rider Safety Training Fund." Money from the fund would be used to continue operation of the Illinois Department of Transportation's nationally recognized Motorcycle Safety Training Program.

The measure also amends the Vehicle Code to increase the annual motorcycle fee from $12 to $16 and semi-annual fee from $6 to $8. This would fund the cost of the program, which currently is being funded with federal money that may be reduced or eliminated in the near future.

The measure was sponsored by Senator Charles Chew and Representative Jesse White, both of Chicago.

Thompson signed House Bill 1409, which incorporates into state law several portions of the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Regulations. It also states that only the Illinois State Police may enforce these regulations. The rules would be applicable to all interstate carriers to which the federal regulations apply and to all intrastate carriers registered for 12,000 pounds or more operated for the transportation of property in commercial or industrial use.

The bill was sponsored by Representative Ted Leverenz of Maywood and Senator Chew.

Mao and army still control Red China

It is obvious to anyone visiting the Peoples Republic of China (Communist China) that the Army is still in control and obviously still influenced by followers of the late Mao Tse Tung, according to Earl Lazerson, president of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Lazerson spoke last week to the Granite City Optimist Club about his visit to Communist China last summer.

Lazerson was one of 15 university presidents that went to China and visited 25 universities and colleges there.

The trip took three years to arrange and was under the direction of the Chinese Minister of Education. The purpose of the trip was to explore the possibility of student exchange programs at a college level between the United States and China.

He noted that English was a popular language, which, like the Army, bothered the current government which was stressing the teaching of classical Chinese.

Due to the number of people that spoke English Lazerson said there was no communications problem.

The tour was what one would expect from a Communist government, in that the visitors saw what the government wanted them to see.

However, Lazerson said, he arose at about 5 a.m. and went out to talk directly to the people and had no problems with the Chinese authorities.

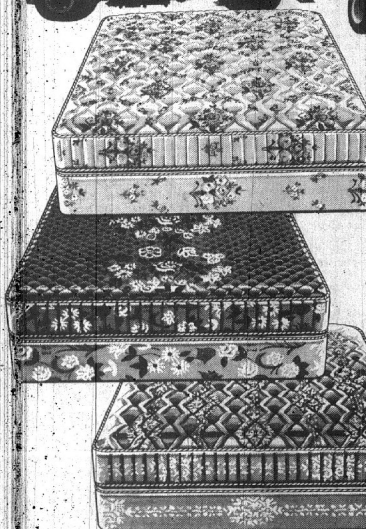

There are approximately 10 million university, college, and junior college students in this country compared to only one million in China.

Travel by trains was fine, but the trains were shabby and Russian imports of the

Auto dealers fight city sales tax

"Organized opposition on behalf of the auto dealers of Granite City" to the one percent sales tax adopted by the city council last week has been pledged by Bill Woodrome, president of Woodrome Oldsmobile, who predicted the new tax will be challenged in court, unless the city modifies it.

"It's a killer in its present form to the automobile sales industry. Anyone selling a major ticket item, such as a car, has got to move out of the city," Woodrome contended.

"I am not sure the proceedings (by the council) were proper and not sure that the tax is legal. I don't want to do this, I want the city to have enough money, without killing the business in Granite, but I don't think they have given us a chance. There will be a two percent differential, if they buy the car in Missouri and this is a killer," Woodrome commented.

"I feel the city license department, when people get their city stickers, could collect that tax and it would be fair for all. That way, whether they buy the car out of town or in town, they pay the same tax. The city also could limit the tax to, say, $5, which is one percent of the first $500 of the cost of a car.

"This is detrimental, period, for the whole downtown business district. It's a long-term thing that will gradually deteriorate the merchants' position in the city. Some businesses are already considering moving out because of the existing city tax. This would be a 200 percent increase over the one percent the state now collects for the city."

"We need to get people to put pressure on the aldermen to repeal this tax, at least in its present form," Woodrome contended.

Responding to charges by some aldermen that he made plans to move to Pontoon Beach before the tax was even considered, Woodrome said that is false. "I have a five-year contract here and plan to stay here. That is the maximum contract you can get anywhere in the country on a GM franchise," he noted.

He added, "I am convinced the city needs money, and I want the city to continue to provide services, but it would not hurt the car dealers if the city would collect the tax at the time persons purchase their city sticker," he concluded.

Woodrome also addressed the city council last week, before the one percent sales tax was approved. He commented at that time, "I don't think people are going to spend an extra $100 to $150 a car to buy from Bill Woodrome and how many industries do you think would be willing to pay another $150 to $200?"

He noted the current one percent tax, collected by the state for the city has risen dramatically since 1959, when an average car cost $3,000 and the total tax bill was under $150. Now, the tax on an average car is over $980. "It seems like a stiff penalty for a new car buyer," he told the council.

He appealed for defeat of the additional one percent sales tax, saying, "It definitely would cause me to relocate the dealership outside of Granite City. It may not be overnight, but it definitely will happen. Auto dealers will have to move out of town to make a profit," he contended.

He opposed enacting even a one quarter percent city sales tax, saying that it soon "could climb to two or three percent. I honestly feel that anything over $10 on the sale of a car is going to be detrimental."

Most auto dealerships, he contended, operate on a two or three percent profit margin, which is a poor return on the major investment he has in the dealership. "We will not be able to pay an extra $150 out of our profit and I don't expect to get an extra $150 out of a customer in taxes," Woodrome told the council.

"A lot of dealers, including some in Granite City, are in the red and this could just be the end of it. It's really detrimental to the business and, in the long run, going to be detrimental to the city, because you are going to reduce sales," he stated.

Woodrome said that today, Oldsmobile prices range from $12,000 for an equipped coupe to $17,000 for a $14,000 sedan. "You're talking big money at a half percent or three-quarters of a percent," he added. The current sales tax is going up automatically as the price of cars goes up, he added, contending that trying to double that tax could be counter-productive, reducing the number of cars sold in the city and thus reducing the amount of tax the city receives from car sales.

Overfest '81 program will run 3 days, open overpass

A gala festival around the theme, "Overfest '81, Bridging the Gap," is being planned to officially open the new 19th Street overpass between West Granite City and the downtown area. Committees are actively involved in making the final preparations for the event, which is to be held Oct. 16 through 18 near the east end of the new overpass structure.

A carnival, a soap box derby, hot air balloons, booths, ethnic and American foods, a picnic and other events are being planned.

A tentative schedule of events for the festival has been approved by the committee chairmen and was announced Saturday by the general chairman, David Nolan.

The focal point of the festival is 19th Street and Niedringhaus Avenue with other activities throughout the downtown area. Activities also will take place on the overpass and in and around Civic Park, which is surrounded by Delmar and Niedringhaus avenues and 20th Street.

The festival will officially open at 6 p.m. Friday, Oct. 16, with a carnival and booths from local organizations open from 6 until midnight.

Saturday, Oct. 17, there will be practice heats from 10 a.m. to noon for the first soap box derby the city has held in many years. The soap box derby, which will be down the eastern leg of the overpass, is open to boys and girls. Those wishing to participate may obtain copies of the specifications for the cars and the rules at the office of the city traffic engineer, Ed Schulze, in the township building at 21st Street and Delmar Avenue, or in Nolan's office on the top floor of city hall.

Six youths already have entered the derby and are busy building their streamlined cars for the event. Nolan said he hopes many more Granite City youths will enter, noting that the cars do not have to be fancy, or expensive.

Practice heats will resume at 1 p.m. for one hour before the first elimination heats begin at 2:30 p.m. that Saturday. The scheduling of the finals will depend on the number of entries and will be announced later.

The carnival will be open that Saturday with a specially-priced matinee for children between noon and 4 p.m. and will reopen with normal prices from 6 p.m. to midnight, along with booths and activities. Rich Tinley, who has organized the carnivals for the Strassentfest, as well as Granite City's Diamond Jubilee, will provide the carnival rides for the three-day festival.

Sunday, Oct. 18, will be the big day, beginning at noon with a public picnic in Civic Park. Picnic tables will be provided and booths on the Delmar side of the park will offer a variety of foods for those who would prefer to buy their lunches rather than bring them.

The carnival will open at 1 p.m. Sunday with a matinee until 4 p.m. At 2 p.m. there will be a hog calling contest in the park and Nolan is attempting to arrange a hot air balloon demonstration and possibly balloon rides.

The carnival will reopen at 5 p.m. and will continue until 9 or later Sunday. If there are enough soap box derby entries, the finals of that race may be held until Sunday's activities.

Thus far, 20 individuals and

Streamlined county agencies sought

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

How to fit the Madison County government into its building space and into its pocketbook? These questions have prompted studies which are nearing completion early this fall.

Slimmer, more streamlined county agencies and procedures are being sought. Fewer one-person and two-person departments are desired, with mergers perhaps enabling better use of telephones, office space, supervisory and secretarial personnel, and office equipment.

Specific departmental consolidations are awaiting the completion of a detailed space analysis study.

The latter study is taking stock of all room within the County Courthouse and the former bank building across the street from and north of the courthouse, plus other present and potential office space.

A lawsuit by Circuit Clerk Willard V. Portell tells of cramped and hazardous conditions and asks for a remedy. State laws appear to require counties to provide adequate room for courts and court-related services like those Portell provides.

If the county is unable or unwilling to offer more and better space, Portell has indicated he might consider moving one or more divisions of the Third Circuit clerical program.

One option he is considering is whether to seek to rent an unused school wing in Granite City.

The Madison County Board has not yet received consolidation recommendations from its Finance Committee. Similar proposals in past years have attracted only limited board support, but there are predictions that a "day of reckoning" is drawing near.

Possible merger candidates are said to include the safety and insurance office, purchasing department, licensing office, delinquent tax staff and mental health department.

Fred Dalton of the Finance Committee believes that "we have six people in five departments, and I don't see why some of their expenses couldn't be shared."

Also voicing favorable comments have been Committee Chairman William Little, Committee Members Donald McLean, Alan Dunstan and O. A. Weindel, and County Auditor Arthur "Pete" Fields.

Still undetermined is the effect on the board committees that supervise or serve as liaison with various county offices. Efforts are to be made to avoid infringing on board members' "turf."

"One approach may be to have each combined department retain its own functions within the physical confines of a single office suite."

Meanwhile, elected officials and appointed staffs are cooperating with Ralph Korte Planning Management, Inc., of Highland in pinpointing present and future office utilization and needs.

The study findings may be presented at the mid-October board meeting.

Auditor Fields has been busy in recent days reviewing departmental budget requests for the fiscal year beginning Dec. 1, 1981, and so far has found them to be "reasonable."

Preliminary increase requests total 13 percent but may later be pared. Each county officeholder and department head was asked to submit a standardized form. Questions included how they would arrange their budgets if they received the same amount of money as last year, a five percent increase or a ten percent decrease.

The county's total yearly budget approaches $35 million, including $12 million in the general fund. Fields concedes that funds are tight, but opposes across-the-board budget alterations. He notes that some units of the county government are operating with "bare minimum" resources.

The county auditor and Mrs. Mary Kane, County Board administrator, have asked that the board consider consolidating some functions and eliminating others as a means of avoiding an imbalance between expenditures and available income.

Fields says, "Every governmental agency in the world has problems now in fighting inflation and keeping taxes down. The only way to do this is to have efficient operations."

"If we have departments which could save money by sharing certain costs, we should take a look at them."

"There may be departments that could share copying machines, secretaries, telephone costs, file

Tree seedling order blanks have been received from the Illinois Forestry Department.

There are two state nurseries in Illinois, the Union Nursery at Jonesboro and the Mason Nursery at Topoka. Both produce tree seedlings for sale in the state.

Both hardwood and pine seedlings are available. Some of the pines available include red pine, Scotch pine, white pine and loblolly pine.

The hardwoods include black walnut, hickory, osage orange, hackberry, white oak, red oak, cypress and sycamore. Wildlife packets, also available.

Trees from the state nursery cannot be resold in any way with the roots attached, and cannot be used for landscaping purposes. They can be used for windbreaks, reforestation, wildlife cover, erosion control and Christmas trees.

State law encourages use of Illinois coal

Governor James R. Thompson has signed legislation that requires state energy agencies to give special consideration to projects encouraging the use of Illinois coal.

"This bill will help Illinois find new ways to make Illinois coal more attractive to industry. Illinois coal usage is an important component of our state's economy, for with increased use more jobs are produced and everyone benefits from the economic results," the Governor said.

House Bill 1591 provides that the Institute of Natural Resources and the Illinois Energy Resources Commission shall give special consideration to projects which are designed to remove sulfur and other pollutants in the preparation of Illinois coal.

Special consideration also is to be given in the use and operation of electric utility steam generating plants and industrial facilities which use Illinois coal as their primary source of fuel.

The bill also expands the definition of alternative energy and adds "demonstration" to research and development to describe which projects are eligible for funding under the Energy Development Bond Act.

The measure was sponsored by Representative Doug Kane, Springfield, and Senator Vince Demuzio, Carlinville.

Thompson also signed other bills, including:

House Bill 823, which requires that all accounts opened at financial institutions after January 1, 1981 have the date the account was opened printed on checks, drafts and orders of withdrawal. Also, new personal checking accounts would start with the number 101 and be numbered consecutively thereafter under the bill.

Thompson said both provisions are designed to deter the writing of bad checks. He said studies indicate that accounts that have been recently opened are more apt to be involved in fraudulent check practices.

Temporary checks would be exempt from the bill's effect.

The measure was sponsored by Representative C. L. McCormick, Vienna, and Senator Terry Bruce, Olney.

House Bill 249, which states that a court will determine the "street value" of the controlled substances for a person charged with a drug-related offense. Any fine imposed would be deposited in an earmarked "Drug Traffic Prevention Fund" with that money to be used for enforcing drug laws and to defray expenses associated with returning drug law felons to Illinois.

The bill also requires that the "street value" be considered when bail is set.

The measure was sponsored by Representative Harry Yourell, Oak Lawn, and Senator Arthur Berman, Chicago.

Senate Bill 224 and House Bill 525, which deregulate some small day care facilities while strengthening the Department of Children and Family Services' enforcement powers over large homes and centers.

ment of Children and Family Services' enforcement powers over large homes and centers.

The bills include provisions that deregulate homes with less than four children or caring for less than nine children in a family home. The measures also establish a business offense penalty of $500 to $1,000 for each day a facility operates without a license.

City to hire accountant

Advertisements for a full-time certified public accountant for Granite City resulted in approximately 20 candidates applying, of which five met the city's specifications, Alderman Paul Ray Bowler, chairman of the city council's finance committee, has reported to the council.

He said he will be setting up interviews soon with those who qualify and hopes the committee can have a recommendation in the near future.

The city council decided last month that a full-time CPA is needed to help straighten out the city's current financial chaos. Bowler said that his discovery Monday that the city had not been paying into the workmen's compensation insurance fund was one example of why a CPA is needed to keep aldermen informed of the current status of each city account.

With the imposition of a one percent city sales tax, approved last week, complete financial statements on the condition of each account may help the aldermen decide where the additional money the tax will produce is most urgently needed, he noted.

Mayor Paul Schuler said the overall condition of the city should be known by mid-October when the outside auditing firm is to audit the city's financial records, completes its report.

"They did have a lot of problems in addition to getting things together from scratch," Schuler noted, saying that the auditor had discovered transfers of funds without the necessary transfer ordinances being approved by the council and had had difficulty determining from which fund each transfer was made.

Alderman Paul Fisk of the Third Ward asked Schuler, "Will there be a statement coming from your office how it happened — how we got in the mess we're in, and how the council did not know what shape we were in? We look like fools up here."

Schuler explained, "There will be an explanation from the auditor how it happened and what happened."

Bowler said that his committee will be "keeping a close look" at the workmen's compensation pool and other self-insured and semi-self-insured city funds in the future and he made a motion which would authorize Schuler or City Clerk Robert W. Stevens to put money in the insurance funds when City Clerk Nick Petrillo is ill or absent.

Schuler responded, "You can make any motion you want, but you can't usurp the powers of an elected office."

Bowler then amended his motion to one asking that the workmen's com-penation fund be funded, as per prior council agreement. That motion was approved.

Schuler responded, "I am going to have to give you permission for more (tax anticipation) warrants because those ($1.2 million already borrowed) warrants have to be repaid from the first."

Commenting on the shortages in the insurance funds, Schuler stated, "If sufficient funds are not there, then the city council should have been told there was not enough money. Not to sit and hide the damn thing."

Bowler said it was only "by a fluke I found out the health plan wasn't being funded. It was to be self-sustaining where we wouldn't have to put another penny in it. Where the money went, I don't know. He (Petrillo) doesn't know."

I take exception with that and may commit (finance committee) takes exception with that," Bowler stated.

There were no motions made to authorize additional borrowing, at this time, but Schuler indicated that if the city does not have sufficient funds to fully fund the health and workmen's compensation pools, borrowing may be necessary.

Alderman Warren Decatur of the finance committee reported he had checked the bill list and believes all of the bills now are current.

Opposition group at Madison to oppose city home rule

By MICK STRANGE of the Press-Record

The "Madison Concerned Citizens Against Home Rule" (MCCAH), an organization formed in Madison which originally had six members at its first private committee meeting, and now has over 70 Madison residents, said it will meet last week.

William Steiner, chairman of MCCAH, said that the group plans in the near future a public Home Rule Truth Meeting to inform the citizens of the "whole truth, and not just portions of the truth the city administration is telling."

Steiner said there is a large number of citizens already alarmed and very concerned about the future of our city. Huge tax increases have already been put on by the aldermen and city administration.

"We also became very alarmed in reading in the Press-Record a letter by Mayor Sasyk and the city administration which did not tell the whole story about taxation and Home Rule.

"We still live in a democracy and this requires active participation."

Our group is looking into all areas of Home Rule," Steiner said.

At last week's anti-home rule meeting, Steiner said, a lot of time was spent educating the committee members on the dangers of unlimited taxing powers, so they can, in turn, talk to others.

Steiner said, "One member of our committee did some tax computing on his house in Madison. He reported that his total property tax bill for 1980 was $227, the city's portion being $27."

"The recent report that on his last two utility bills the city tax was $5 each month, and this did not count the tax on water or telephone."

"It does not take much to figure out that with the new utility tax alone, even though the city administration says it is cutting out their portion of the property tax, the taxes paid to Madison will increase over 100 percent in a year.

"This is a far cry from what the administration would lead us to believe," Steiner emphasized.

"Everyone knows many of us have supported many of the city's programs, most of which have been federally funded in the past."

"But this does not mean the citizens of Madison should blindly support everything the city administration wants."

"Mayor Sasyk can't expect the citizens to give him a blank check for everything he proposes," Steiner maintained.

"Any group wishing an informed speaker on the facts of Home Rule may call our 'Hot Line' 452-8150 between 6 p.m. and 10 p.m. We will have a committee member speak to any local organization," Steiner said.

Streamlined county agencies

and other equipment."

Outlining procedural steps outlined by Mrs. Kane and Fields include determining use of $960,000 in federal approved revenue, allocating corporate surplus property to replacement funds, setting a county tax rate goal, establishing minimum balances acceptable for departmental checking accounts, placing employment and training, manpower development, community development and tuberculosis clinic programs within the overall county financial management system.

Assistant State's Attorney Marshall "Zeke" Smith, legal adviser to the County Board, is backing immediate merger of the licensing and delinquent tax departments.

He adds that some duties of the state's attorney and circuit clerk are duplicate in nature.

Smith takes the position that, even though many officials are elected on a county-wide basis, ultimate control is vested in the 29-direct, 29-member County Board.

He comments, "Suppose the duties of State's Attorney Don Weber and Circuit Clerk Portell were combined in a particular area. If they didn't go along with it, then they could get shorted on their budgets. I think it's time that the board members assert their authority more."

Overfest' 81

Nolan as soon as possible, he said.

Vice-chairmen of the events and heads of the committees organizing the event are: Police Chief Ronald Veizer, security; Bill Badger, electrical; Barry Lohman, financing; Gary Schneider, publicity, and Ed Schulze, soap box derby.

"We hope everyone will mark his calendar and plan on being here for "Overfest '81." It looks like everyone is going to have a good time and it will be a fitting tribute to a structure which will be with us for many years to come.

"Bridging the Gap" which has separated the city and county will be torn down and the downtown area," Nolan concluded.

Governor presses for higher gasoline tax

A strong appeal for an increase in the gasoline tax and the license plate fee to help save the roads in Illinois before they are beyond normal repairs was issued by Governor James Thompson Saturday morning during the annual meeting of the Illinois Press Association (IPA) in a auditorium.

Several local persons attended the three-day session, including Gary Schneider, managing editor of the Press-Record.

"It has been 12 years since Illinois raised its gasoline tax. We are leading ourselves down the road from maintenance, which is expensive, to repair, which is more expensive, to replacement, which is prohibitive," the governor contended.

Other than a gasoline tax increase and higher license plate fees, the governor predicted that no general tax increases will be needed to pull Illinois out of its current recession, if the legislature votes to uphold vetoes he has placed on several spending measures. "We're going to have a tough year ahead fiscally, probably our worst, and I believe people will rather try to get by with a little less government for one year," he told the press representatives.

He contended, however, that it is imperative that Illinois improve its highway system if it is to be able to attract new industry and business. Currently, Illinois is the transportation hub of the nation, with good road, water, rail and air transportation facilities, but to allow the highways to deteriorate, as Pennsylvania did, would harm Illinois' efforts to attract new industries, he said.

The press representatives also heard talks from State Comptroller Roland Burris, Secretary of State Jim Edgar, State Treasurer Jerome Cosentino, and Attorney General Tyrone C. Fahner.

Fahner, Senator Prescott Bloom (R-Peoria) and Rep. Jim Teilly (R-Jacksonville) were accorded special honors by the IPA for their work in getting a new open meetings act through the legislature, which will become effective Jan. 1. The act will assure that the public and the press have access to more meetings of public bodies and provides for stronger penalties for governmental agencies violating the act.

National political columnist Robert Novak was the main speaker for the convention, replacing Presidential Press Secretary James Brady, who is recuperating from being shot during an assassination attempt against President Ronald Reagan.

Herb & Doris musical coming to Quad-Cities

Herb Sadler, a resident of Venice whose musical talent has earned him the name of "Mr. Guitar," is bringing his show, the "Herb and Doris Revue," back home to Madison.

Sadler is a Madison High School graduate.

The show will be held in Englebert Hall, 10th and Washington streets, Madison, on Saturday, Oct. 31.

Herb and Doris have had several records in the top 40 such as "Soul Guitar," "Somebody, Somewhere Needs You," and others.

Their show is billed for the entire family and listed as total entertainment, so everyone can dance, listen and sing to the Herb and Doris Revue.

The nine-piece group has toured Europe and the United States with Ike and Tina Turner.

Ray Charles' description of the revue was "Outta Sight." Sadler has performed with Charles on several occasions.

He has also performed with such well known groups as the Supremes, James Brown, Bobby Darin, and Joe Tex.

While in this area Sadler became known with his own group as Herb Sadler and His Empires of Rhythm Orchestra. They played in this area from 1961-64 and then went on a 10-month series of tours with Ike and Tina Turner.

He appeared in a full length movie "T.N.T. Award Show" honoring performers who received international awards for pop and rock music in 1965.

Herb then signed with Paramount Motion Pictures as a staff guitarist and left Paramount to become lead guitarist for Ray Charles. After a few months with Charles, he returned to Venice for a three-week run.

He then went on an European tour with the Rolling Stones and Ike and Tina Turner, where the show set new attendance records in England.

Appearing with the TV and recording artists will be "Silverwood," an Elvis impersonator who was one of the final contenders for the role of the late Elvis Presley in the movie "King of Rock 'N' Roll."

The entertainer lives in Creve Coeur, and has appeared on television in the Variety Club Telethon and

Reagan talk launches United Way campaign

President Reagan, Sunday night called for "new, imaginative" partnerships between local governments and voluntary organizations to help meet the nation's human care needs.

In a nationally televised message kicking off local United Way campaigns, the President said voluntary organizations like United Way are "the core" of our social welfare system. He asked "all individuals of every income level" and "all corporations of every size" to give more generously than ever to this fall's United Way campaign.

"Our nation is entering a period of transition," the President said. "And I'm counting on that voluntary strength and that commitment as we turn from government doing for us that which we can best do for ourselves."

NATIONAL TEACHER EXAMS ON NOV. 14 The National Teacher Examinations will be given Nov. 14 at Lawson Hall, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, for students completing teacher preparation programs and advanced degree candidates.

Registration forms can be obtained from SIU Testing Services, Woody Hall B 204, or from National Teacher Examinations, Box 911, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N.J. 08541. Those taking the Nov. 14 exams must register by Oct. 12.

Plane's battery ready Within a second after any power interruption, a 22-pound silver battery used on airplanes in emergencies is ready to produce electricity equivalent to 6,700 watts (9 horsepower) continuously for three minutes.

"We're shifting responsibility away from the federal government," the President said. "But to do so requires new, imaginative partnerships between state and local governments, and voluntary organizations if people's needs are to be met."

"I can think of no better place to begin than in this fall's United Way campaign," the President continued. "United Way belongs to every local community. It's your way of making an efficient, equitable, planned use of the voluntary resources we all share."

The President said that people who give to help others want to know the greatest part of their charitable gift "actually goes to those who need help. That's true of United Way."

The President described himself as a "fellow volunteer," following in the Presidential tradition of delivering a special United Way message to the nation.

That tradition began in 1927 with Calvin Collidge's national radio broadcast.

President Reagan was introduced by Donald V. Seibert, chairman of United Way of America's board of governors. The President's message marked the formal beginning of more than 2,100 local United Way campaigns across the nation.

Last year, United Ways raised a record $1.5 billion which helped support over 37,000 health and human care agencies and programs in local communities.

The legislation (House Bill 808), sponsored by state Representative Clarence Darrow, was signed by Gov. Thompson, Thursday and goes into effect July 1, 1982.

"This new law rewards those persons who have demonstrated an ability to drive safely. Good drivers should be rewarded and their efforts recognized," Edgar said.

"The law should also serve as an incentive to others to practice safe driving habits. We should do everything we can to encourage traffic safety, and this law is an excellent example of how we can encourage Illinois motorists to drive safely."

Edgar said approximately 21 percent of the 1.3 million persons whose licenses are renewed annually would qualify for the exemption.

All Illinois drivers are required to renew their driver licenses every three years and all are presently required to take written and vision tests once every nine years.

The new law would not affect those persons age 69 and over, who are required to take all three examinations each time their licenses are renewed.
